

Committee Votes Increased Water Rates For City

New Scale Will Make Rates 25 Per Cent Higher for Retailers and 27.50 for Wholesalers.

MEASURE REGARDED AS ONLY TEMPORARY

Present Plan Is to Wipe
Out City Deficit of $300,-
000 and Restore Present
Rates in January.

City council's finance committee Wednesday afternoon voted unanimously to increase Atlanta water rates 25 per cent to all retail consumers with a scale that will mean approximately 27 1/2 per cent increase to wholesale consumers, the new rates to go into effect on July 1.

The favorable report on Alderman R. A. Gordon's resolution providing for the increase was adopted by the committee after considerable discussion. It will be submitted to general council at its next session on Monday, June 18, where it is expected to meet with heated opposition, several councilmen having voiced disapproval of any measure that would tend to increase city taxes.

Emergency Measure
In approving the measure, members of the finance committee made it plain that the increase was voted as a temporary and emergency ordinance, the additional revenues derived to be applied to wiping out a deficit of approximately $300,000, in the January finance sheet.

Before adopting the measure, the committee sought the opinion of Mayor Walter A. Sims, who favored it, he said, solely as a means of providing funds to balance the June finance sheet. The mayor stated he was opposed to the increased rates remaining after January 1, 1924, when it is planned to restore the present rate.

Councilman J. Allen Couch and Councilman R. F. Gilliam voiced opposition to the new scale as applicable to wholesale consumers, stating they favored a greater proportionate increase for these users of city water.

Domestic water rates as provided in the measure, will be increased from 80 cents to $1. for 800 cubic feet. Should the consumers delay payment until after the tenth of the month, an additional 10 per cent will be required of them for each 800 cubic feet.

The New Scale.
The monthly minimum gross rate for each service or size of service, including meter rents, will be as follows under the new scale provided council ratifies the measure:

On 5-8" meters, 800 cubic ft. $ 1.12
On 3-4" meters, 1,000 cubic ft. 1.40
On 1" meters, 1,500 cubic ft. 2.10
On 1 1/2" meters, 2,000 cubic ft. 2.80
On 2" meters, 3,000 cubic ft. 3.50
On 3" meters, 4,000 cubic ft. 4.20
On 4" meters, 5,000 cubic ft. 4.90
On 5" meters, 6,000 cubic ft. 5.60
On 6" meters, 7,000 cubic ft. 6.30
On 8" meters, 10,000 cubic ft. 8.40
On 10" meters, 15,000 cubic ft. 11.20
On 12" meters, 25,000 cubic ft. 15.00
On 14" meters, 50,000 cubic ft. 25.00

TAX EQUALIZATION BATTLE PREDICTED IN LEGISLATURE

Repeal of Act Is Not Expected, However, Unless
Some New Revenue Law
Is Passed.

Despite rumors of a coming fight against the tax equalization law, emanating from different sections of the state, opinion of capital officials is crystallizing into the belief that the members of the legislature will not abolish the tax equalization law until some other measure has been passed which will insure a continued revenue to the state, at least equal to that for the past few years, according to views expressed yesterday by various statehouse officials.

Any decrease, even of a comparatively small amount, in the revenues of the state at this time would mean that the economic appropriations of last year could not be met, it is stated, and Governor Hardwick and various other members of the state budget commission have declared that, without devising some means of raising additional state revenue, it will be impossible for the next legislature to make any larger appropriations than those of the past year. Even these will bring the state dangerously near the limit of her income, it is pointed out.

Colleges Ask Money.
Petitions from the University of Georgia for an appropriation of $1,165,000 a year for the next two years; Georgia Tech for more than $800,000; the Georgia State sanatorium for $2,700,000; and the Confederate pensioners for approximately $3,500,000, bring the aggregate to more than $8,500,000 more than the present appropriations, it is stated.

These facts, it is believed, will deter the legislators from abolishing the tax equalization law until they have

Delinquent Girl Problem Will Be Discussed Friday

Leasing Civic Organizations Are Interested in the Movement.

Atlanta's delinquent girls are to occupy the attention of a joint committee representing a number of Atlanta civic organizations at its first general session at the Piedmont hotel at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, according to statements Wednesday by members of the league of women voters and other civic organizations interested in this problem.

A plan is to be developed by the committee by which more thorough supervision can be maintained over probationary cases of girls who have gone astray.

Existing weaknesses in the methods of handling such cases in Fulton county will be considered with especial care and remedies worked out. Members of the joint committee stated that it is probable that a bill will be prepared for submission to the general assembly which will enable a complete reorganization of the present system of handling such cases.

The limited capacity of the state training school for girls is to be made the grounds for an effort to secure a similar institution for Fulton county alone, according to members of the committee.

The Georgia department of public welfare, the Atlanta Woman's club, the Associated Charities, the League of Women Voters, the Rotary club and other organizations are represented on the joint committee, of which Roy P. Gates, executive secretary of the federation for social service, is acting as temporary head until organization is perfected at the meeting Friday.

SHE WANTED 'EM;
SHE INSISTED—!
AND SHE GOT 'EM

Rome, Ga., June 6.—(Special.)—Ensign Horgan, of the local Salvation Army corps, figured until yesterday that he was past being surprised by any request that is made of him. Now he has changed his mind.

On yesterday afternoon late, a woman past middle age, driving a mule seemingly in the last stages of disintegration and a buggy that might have seen service before the civil war, stopped at Salvation Army headquarters. There were two small children with her in the buggy. She explained that she was driving from Atlanta to Dalton.

She wanted to know if Ensign Horgan could supply her with a pair of men's pants. She declined to state how or why she needed 'em, even when the ensign gently insisted. She needed 'em badly, she needed 'em now—must have 'em in fact, but she couldn't tell why.

She got 'em.

FRANCE IS READY TO STUDY GERMAN SETTLEMENT PLAN

French and Belgian Premiers Open Way for Settlement Through Intervention.

NEW GERMAN NOTE FAILS TO APPEAR

Belgians Express Opinion
That German Offer
Should Be Thoroughly
Examined and Answered.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Brussels, June 6.—A solid and united allied front by France, Belgium, Great Britain and Italy on the question of German reparations, with France and Belgium agreed on a policy with regard to the Ruhr, appears to be forecast in consequence of a meeting here today between Premier Poincare of France and Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jasper of Belgium.

A striking feature of the session, according to both France and Belgium was that a way was left open for Stanley Baldwin, the British prime minister to propose a solution should it prove impossible to arrange a joint allied reply to new proposals Germany is expected to make almost immediately on the question of reparations.

The French expressed willingness to meet any reasonable German plan in a spirit of conciliation and, aside from insisting that payment from Germany must be forthcoming before the French soldiers march out of the Ruhr, M. Poincare declared he was ready and willing to entertain settlement suggestions from friendly quarters. It is asserted that when the French premier made this statement Mr. Baldwin was particularly in his mind.

Retain Views on Ruhr.
The French, with the Belgians supporting their view, still held out for a cessation of German passive resistance as an inflexible requirement before Germany's new offer is examined; but M. Poincare's attitude on the whole nevertheless is construed here as decidedly less uncompromising than heretofore.

The two allies, France and Belgium, again at today's meeting reaffirmed their decision to evacuate the Ruhr only as Germany has paid. Grave fears had been voiced that the French and Belgian viewpoints would prove irreconcilable; but after a private talk of more than an hour between M. Poincare and M. Theunis and M. Jasper, which was the most important feature of the day, it was announced officially "an understanding has been reached."

The meeting of "the board of directors of the Ruhr Occupation Company, Limited," as the French premier described today's session, proved to be a general discussion of the reparations question.

When the delegates met tonight at the French embassy for dinner, M. Poincare and M. Jasper decided that another meeting set for tonight was unnecessary. M. Poincare therefore will return to Paris about 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

New German Note.
A new German note, which some thought might arrive in Brussels today, failed to make its appearance. The premiers, however, were enabled STOUTNESS SAVES LIFE Woman Saved From Fall by Corpulence.

Universal Cure for Gastric Ills Being Sought at Emory

Pathologists Observe Artificially-Diseased Patient

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.
Eyes of the medical world of the North American continent are centered on the pathological clinic at Emory university, where a patient lies slowly approaching a state of diabetic coma.

This condition, considered the climax in the development of diabetes, is being produced artificially in order to determine whether insulin, newly-discovered treatment for diabetes, can be broadened into a universal cure for gastric and digestive diseases.

Doctors and pathologists engaged in research work at Emory plan to bring the disease to its climax by slow stages and then reverse the action and cure the man again. Every symptom and every action of his system will be under the closest scrutiny, both while he is becoming subject to the artificially-produced disease and again when he is convalescing.

Only Test of Kind.
Emory university is the only place in the world where the experiment is being carried on, and medical men in charge attach so much importance to its results that they have been pledged to report their findings in the case only through the columns of The Medical Journal.

Doctors declined Wednesday to state whether the subject of their research work—the man who is going to be made so sick that he finally becomes unconscious—is a volunteer hero of science or is being paid for his trouble.

Only this much could be learned—that he is well on the way to fatal coma. Acidosis is being produced at such a rate that the man can not observe for himself the progress of his disease. Doctors did not say whether he was absolutely free from diabetes when he entered the hospital or whether the disease was artificially started on its course in his body from the beginning.

Stimulate Disease.
All that could be learned was that diabetes was taking its regular course and that it was running this course unchecked and rather stimulated with all possible means by the research workers.

The doctors are practically without fear in the matter because the recently-discovered insulin treatment has placed in their hands a treatment for diabetes that is termed certain of cure. That they can halt the experiment at any time and start the patient back on the road to recovery, is the confident belief of Emory medical experts.

The whole experiment is practically based on the certainty of the insulin cure. Physicians and research workers would probably not hazard the risk if they were not certain that they could conquer and check the ravages

OHIO HEAT WAVE TAKES SIX LIVES

Record Rainfall Brings Welcome Surcease From Week of Heat—Lightning Takes Toll.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Cleveland, O., June 6.—Two deaths were recorded in Ohio when an electrical storm swept the state late today bringing to an end a six day heat wave. A third death, that of a woman, was attributed to the heat, making the total from this cause in the state for the week six.

A record rain-fall of nearly a quarter of an inch fell here within less than an hour, causing the mercury to fall to 69 this evening.

Nicholas Cavulich, of Barberton, Ohio, died from burns received when lightning set fire to a barn near Newton Falls. Before his death he said his wife had been in the building with him, but no trace of the woman was found.

The second death caused by lightning was that of William Maxwell, 32, of Clevelonia, a lineman, who was instantly killed and two of his fellow workmen were knocked unconscious.

Mrs. Luigi Gadenia, 39, fainted from the heat, police say and fell to her death from a second story window here.

WIFE SIGNS PAPER
GIVING UNLIMITED
FREEDOM TO HUSBY

Aniston, Ala., June 6.—(Special.)—Privilege to "drink, gamble, float around the country and keep company with other women provided he used good judgment," and to do at any time anything which seemed proper to him, was contained in a document signed by his wife and found on J. J. Hooker, young man arrested by local police Tuesday charged with riding a train unlawfully and also as a suspect in connection with the escape of a prisoner from a Florida officer near Atlanta.

Hooker convinced local authorities that he was not the man who made the getaway from the Florida sheriff, and the case against him charging unlawful riding of a train was dismissed in recorder's court and the man who impressed Aniston officers with the wide privileges granted by his wife was allowed to continue his journey in the direction of Birmingham. Hooker claimed Atlanta as his home.

Washington, June 6.—Shriners in session here today selected Kansas City as their 1924 convention city, and elected Conrad N. Dykeman, of Brooklyn, to the post of imperial potentate, succeeding James S. McCandless, of Honolulu.

Mr. Dykeman advanced from the office of imperial deputy potentate, in accordance with the imperial council's custom, and all other members of the imperial divan went up one step nearer the top. Clifford Ireland, of Peoria, Ill., a former member of the house of representatives, was elected to fill the vacancy thus created for imperial outgrowth.

Imperial Potentate. Dykeman's divan includes James E. Chandler, of Kansas City, imperial deputy potentate; James C. Burger, of Denver, imperial chief rabban; David W. Crossland, of Montgomery, Ala., assistant chief rabban; Clarence M. Dunbar, of Providence, R. I., imperial high priest and prophet; Frank C. Jones, of Houston, Tex., imperial oriental guide; Leo V. Youngworth, of Los Angeles, imperial first ceremonial master; Esten A. Fletcher, of Rochester, N. Y., imperial second ceremonial master; Thomas J. Houston, of Chicago, imperial marshal; Earl C. Mills, of Des Moines, imperial captain of the guards.

Others Re-elected.
William S. Brown, of Pittsburgh, and Benjamin W. Rowell, of Boston, respectively, were re-elected imperial treasurer and inperial recorder. Sam P. Cochran, of Dallas, Bishop Fredrick W. Keator, of Tacoma, and Arthur W. Chapman, of Winnipeg, were elected members of the board of trustees of the Shrine's Hospital for Crippled Children, four of which have been completed, with six more projected.

A number of temple hands serenaded President Harding, who is a Shriner, and Mrs. Harding during the day, and presented a number of gifts. Mrs. Harding entertained 20 wives.

Hurt and Payne Give $1,000 Each To Big Memorial

Generous Response Now Being Made to Stone Mountain Fund.

Subscriptions of $1,000 each to the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial by Joel Hurt and J. Carroll Payne, were announced Wednesday afternoon by the executive committee of the association.

Mr. Hurt's subscription was made in honor of his brother, Eliska H. Hurt, a gallant soldier of the forty-fifth Alabama infantry, who was shot down and mortally wounded in the battle of Atlanta. He and his messmates were struck by fragments of the same shell and they fell together.

After the war Mr. Hurt entered the engineering department of the University of Georgia and died there in about a year from the effects of his wound.

Mr. Payne's subscription was made in honor of his father, Major Rice W. Payne, who commanded a battalion of Pickett's famous brigade, which won immortal fame in the charge at Gettysburg.

The names of Mr. Hurt's brother and Mr. Payne's father will be inscribed on a bronze tablet to be placed in the memorial hall to be carved out of the mountain below the colossal panoramas.

The executive committee announced that the "founders' roll" plan, for contributors of $1,000 or more, is steadily gaining in interest and popularity, and they believe the entire fund for the memorial can be raised on this basis.

Why the Weather?
DR. CHARLES F. BROOKS,
Secretary American Meteorological
Society, Says:

Hail Is Hot Weather's Ice.

Hail is a phenomenon of spring and early summer in the south, and of spring and summer in the north. It is a feature of intense thunderstorms. Thus hail occurs in hot weather and practically never falls in winter. Sleet is an entirely different formation, which is the result of the heaviest and most humid air we have, but the hotter and more humid the larger the hailstones are apt to be.

When convection is most violent, air currents are ascending at the rate of ten or more miles an hour, raindrops cannot fall, and many of them are caught by the upsurging air and carried high up into the cloudtops, which, under these atmospheric conditions, tower into the regions of extreme cold, where the temperature is far below freezing and often even below zero. On mixing with snow they freeze as globules of cloudy ice. Getting into descending currents they fall into the rain levels, and take on a clear layer of ice from contacts with rising drops to provide a clear layer of ice, and again the growing hail is tossed on high, to receive another coat of snowy ice. This process is sometimes kept up until on rare occasions stones with twenty-five layers and as big as baseballs result, such as at Annapolis, Md., June 22, 1915.

When the upward wind pressure is removed and gravity is permitted to work its will, then the hailstones fall to the earth seldom doing greater damage than to cut up growing things, because the stones are small. But sometimes the great stones are a serious danger, they play havoc with crops, even to the point of complete ruin, destroy light structures and glass everywhere, and even kill cattle in the fields.

Average Age of Irish
Cabinet Placed at 35
Years—Gaelic Little Used.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
London, June 6.—Your correspondent and evening staff through a session of the Irish Dail (pronounced like "dahl," almost like Doyle). They seem to have adopted the manner of the English house of commons, meeting at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and sitting often until late in the night.

It was, I suppose, a characteristic session. The debates covered a bill for the censorship of motion picture films, a financial budget bill and one of Mr. de Valera's overtures toward peace.

Comparison Shown.
The members of the cabinet sat on the front bench of the government side, as in practically all European legislatures, though not in our American congress. Instinctively one compared them with our own present cabinet at home. Naturally, the comparison was to the disadvantage of the Free State. Among 4,000,000 people there are not to be found as many picked men of big caliber as among 100,000,000. Moreover, our present American cabinet happens to be probably the strongest—taking it as a whole—since President Hayes' in the '70s.

The Dail cabinet is young—I should imagine the average age is not much above 35. If they have native ability, the capacity to meet and overcome crises, it has yet to be written on their countenances. There was no one with a sum of experience comparing with that of Hughes, or Mellon, or Hoover, or Weeks.

One had a moment, too, of comparing this cabinet of a new nation with the leaders who started our own America off after its secession from Great Britain. But one abandoned that comparison instantly, with a little pang of pity for Ireland. Tragedy of one sort or another had deprived the Free State of three of the best of its pioneers. It is as if with-in a year after we won our independence George Washington had been murdered, Alexander Hamilton had died and Thomas Jefferson had gone off on an insurrection.

Signs of Classic Learning.
But while the Dail cabinet is much younger and otherwise not to be compared with ours at home, the membership of the Dail, as a whole, need not fear comparison with our lower house of congress, or even with our senate. In the debates there was humor, common sense and decidedly more signs of classic learning than in our congress.

Expresses Regret That Investigation by Com-

ANOTHER BOND ISSUE NECESSARY, HE SAYS

Superintendent of Atlanta System Cites Report
Made by Drs. Strayer and Engelhardt.

Fourteen buildings used by the Atlanta public school system are decidedly worse fire-traps than the Girls' High School building, which is being surveyed by a special committee appointed by city council, according to Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, who yesterday quoted figures from the official survey made last year by Drs. Strayer and Engelhardt, experts on school problems, in support of his statement.

Mr. Sutton, in commenting for the first time on the agitation growing out of the fire hazard conditions at the Girls' High school, expresses disappointment that the special committee at its session Wednesday morning voted to limit its investigation to the Girls' High school at this time and leave the other schools until later.

These Are Fire Traps.
The school buildings which Superintendent Sutton says are worse fire traps than the Girls' High school are: Boys' High, Tech High, Battle Hill, Davis, Grant Park, Inman Park, Ira, North Avenue, Ormwood, Peoples, Pryor, Williams, State and Crew annex. All of these buildings will be in use during the next school term and no plans for improving them have been devised as yet, it was stated.

Three other schools, Greenwood, Frazer, and Faith, which are being replaced under the $1,000,000 school building program and which will be abandoned by the school department at the first of September, are even worse than any of the fourteen schools mentioned above, Mr. Sutton stated.

"While I am in thorough sympathy with the movement to correct conditions at the Girls' High School building," declared Mr. Sutton, "I regret exceedingly that the committee decided to limit its investigation at this time to that school alone, when there are other schools in the system in much worse condition."

Remedy Is Needed.
"I have hesitated in commenting on the fire hazards existing at the Girls' High school when the records of Drs. Strayer and Engelhardt disclose 14 other schools in even worse condition. There is no question but that something should be done at once to remedy these conditions, but I feel that we should not signal out one particular school for this purpose and leave the others alone."

"In their report of local school conditions, Drs. Strayer and Engelhardt commented at some length on these conditions. As will be seen

ITALIAN CABINET DECIDE TO CREATE CREDIT FOR LABOR

Rome, June 6.—The Italian cabinet has decided to create a "National credit institution for Italian labor abroad," the purpose of which will be to finance individual and collective colonization enterprises and extend the field of Italian labor to other countries.

Premier Mussolini, who is behind the measure, recently declared that at least 200,000 people would have to emigrate from Italy annually to maintain good living conditions for the balance of the prolific and overpopulated country.

Immigration bars in the United States have severely hit Italian labor, and attention is now turning to South America.

Calm and Quiet Once More Reigns In K. K. K. Ranks

Calm and quiet again descended yesterday over the rank and file of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan following the announcement by William Joseph Simmons, emperor, that he had formed the Knights Kamela.

Emperor Simmons' announcement came with dramatic suddenness, following a meeting of the imperial klavern in Washington, at which it was voted to form a woman's organization in line with the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and include certain women's organizations now functioning with the exception of Kamela, an order established recently by Emperor Simmons to function along lines similar to the Klan.

Simmons, in explaining his right to promulgate a new order of klansmen, cites a section of by-laws which says: "These several orders of klansmen achievement and kloranic advancement shall be communicated, and their kloranic regulations, requirements and governments shall be established and promulgated by and in the discretion of the emperor of this order in the fulfillment of its philosophy, and in the revelation of its spiritual mysteries."

The emperor stated that the Knights Kamela will be for the purpose of giving what he now calls probationary klansmen a chance to advance in work of the order at no cost to the klansmen in transferring from the Klan to the new organization.

New Order Given Charter.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 6.—A state charter was granted today to the Knights Kamela, the new secret organization founded by W. J. Simmons, emperor of the Ku Klux Klan. The order was chartered as a "benevolent, charitable, fraternal and protective" organization. Officers, according to the application filed with the secretary of state are: W. J. Simmons, Atlanta, emperor; W. A. Ridley, Atlanta, chancellor; H. Tom Knight, Claremore, Okla., supreme scribe; C. W. Beeson, Claremore, custodian exchequer; H. N. Moore, supreme great knighthawk.

Tulsa was given as the organization's chief place of business, with postoffice addresses at Atlanta and Claremore.

Former Atlanta Girl Makes Hit As Playwright

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Another Georgia girl has won her place in the sun among the playwrights of the present generation. Lulu Vollmer, formerly of Atlanta and the daughter of Atlantans who still reside in the city, is the author of the play "Sun Up" now in the midst of a highly successful run at the Provincetown playhouse.

Critics and public alike have acclaimed the work of this gifted Georgia girl. Her play, which deals with the southern mountaineers, is characterized by a high degree of realism.

New York Review.

In the New York Evening Telegram of May 25, the reviewer says of Miss Vollmer's work:

"The story is consistent with its environment. It is really the picture of the awakening of a mountain woman, who has been obsessed all her life with a hatred for that unseen, sinister power called the Law."

"The long arm of coincidence puts the son of her husband's slayer in her power. The play up to this point had been written with unflinching power but at this point the appreciative listener might well tremble, fearing the sound of a false note or the misery of a banal denouement."

"But the author's skill has not failed her at the critical moment and the play resolves itself on the proper final chord."

Now, having told what Lulu Vollmer is doing today, how she has won her accolade of literary honor with a New York production, let's turn back the files a bit and see what she was doing a decade ago.

In the Constitution of August 4, 1912, you can find a story about Miss Vollmer. Even then she was working toward the achievement of her hopes that has come in 1923.

In 1912 she was auditor at the Piedmont hotel. All day long she worked over figures and accounts. Then, in her spare time she wrote playlets, sketches and motion picture scenarios.

At that time, you will recall, the motion pictures were very, very crude, compared to what they are today. Miss Vollmer, however, seems to have had a vision of what was coming, for she told her interviewer that she was confident there was a great literary future ahead of the picture industry. She declared that they would advance, just as has the spoken stage, and that there would be cycles in this progress. She predicted that more and more the picture makers would turn to stories of the great outdoors for, she said, "the American people all love outdoor life, and the opportunity before the picture producers to lay their stories in natural settings cannot be overlooked."

Who'll say she wasn't a good little prophet?

MAN'S FOOT CUT OFF IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

With his right foot amputated, F. S. Rawls, car inspector for the A. R. & A. railroad, is in a serious condition in the Grady hospital.

Full details concerning the manner in which Rawls was injured had not been learned by railroad officials late Wednesday night. He was injured in the railroad yards during the afternoon.

Rawls lives at 196 Jefferson street and has been in the employ of the railroad company for some time.

As the result of an accident in the Butler street car barn late Wednesday afternoon, R. R. Spratling, conductor for the Georgia Railway and Power company, may lose his right foot.

Conductor Spratling lives at 47 Brotherton street. He declined to give information as to how he was hurt, but it is stated that a car was left in the barn without the brakes set, and that it started off suddenly, striking Spratling and throwing him against another car.

Major Jesse Gaston, of the United States regular army, reached Atlanta Tuesday night to relieve Colonel James M. Little as commander of the R. O. T. C. units of the Atlanta and Fulton high schools. He will remain in Atlanta during the vacation months perfecting plans for reorganizing the units when the term reopens in September.

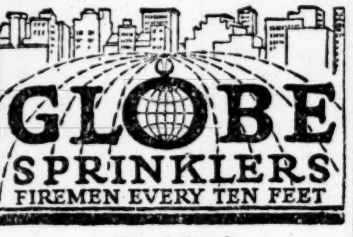

Major Gaston commanded the Seventh infantry battalion, Third division, which served overseas during the world war. He is a native of

101 Marietta Street Building Atlanta, Georgia $400,000

(Property appraised at $732,150)

First Mortgage 7% Leasehold Gold Bonds

Price: Par, to yield 7%

THE 101 Marietta Street Building, to be erected by Palmer, Incorporated, has an ideal location for an office structure, lying in the heart of the downtown Atlanta business district, almost directly across from the Federal Reserve Bank. Being only one block from the City Hall, two blocks from the Post Office, and four blocks from "Five Points," the building will attract a most desirable class of business tenants. It is to be built in the best manner of reinforced concrete, with window space equal substantially to 20 per cent of the aggregate floor space.

The officers and directors of Palmer, Incorporated, include C. F. Palmer, Asa W. Candler and Judge John S. Candler. The high business standing of these men is in itself a strong recommendation of the investment qualities of these bonds.

The Bonds:

Dated: February 15, 1923.
Maturities: Annual, 2 to 15 years.
Certifying Agency: Anderson, Rountree & Greenshaw, Attorneys, Atlanta, Ga.
Surety Bond: Completion of the structure free of mechanics' liens will be guaranteed under a bond to be furnished by the contractor.
Net Earnings: Estimated at $83,000, nearly three times the greatest annual interest charges.
Denominations: $100, $500, $1,000.

ADDITIONAL FACTS.

Tables showing maturities of bonds and increasing security as bonds are paid off each year, together with facts regarding the valuation and estimated earnings of the structure, are contained in our illustrated circular describing this bond issue. We recommend these bonds as a sound investment, and will gladly send the circular, without obligation, to anyone interested in safe Southern Bonds paying 7% interest.

WOODRUFF ASKS HELP IN FIGHT ON POOL ROOMS

Asking all the citizens of Georgia who approve of his bill to abolish poolrooms in the state get in immediate touch with their state senator and representatives. Representative-elect Albert J. Woodruff, of DeKalb county, has written a circular letter addressed to the people of the state.

In his letter he reasserts his determination to introduce a bill in the forthcoming legislature for the abolition of all poolrooms in the state and declares that the only danger of its defeat lies in the apathy of its supporters, upon the mistaken belief that its passage is assured. He points out that opposition has arisen to the bill and claims that fact as conclusive evidence of the need for such a bill.

Good Bread Contains...Wheat

For ages past, wheat has entered into the building of nations more than any other food. It combines muscle-building protein, with valuable mineral salts (lime, magnesium, potash, phosphates, sodium and iron oxide), high-energy carbohydrates, and the vastly important vitamin "B". All of these ingredients are essential to the growth and maintenance of a healthy body and mind.

MERITA BREAD is made from only the best of the noted Kansas upland wheat. Over 325 different brands of wheat-flour were analyzed by our chemists before selecting the delicious and nutritious wheat that you now get in your loaf of MERITA BREAD.

Every morning, rain or shine, in hundreds of thousands of homes, breakfast opens up the new day, with Carnation Milk occupying the cream pitcher, and sunshine occupying the robust faces round the table.

Use it in coffee. Serve it on fruit. Try it on cereals. It's just the consistency of thick, country cream. And it is simply pure, whole cows' milk without 60% of the water removed, hermetically sealed and sterilized.

dinner

One wonderful thing about Carnation is that it's quite as adaptable to one meal as another.

Sometimes you may wonder perhaps how some friend always serves such delightful croquettes, souffles, sauces, gravies, salad dressings, cakes, cookies, puddings, custards and frostings. You may be reasonably sure that she uses Carnation Milk.

When you serve Carnation Milk to the children for drinking, simply add one and a half to two parts of water.

CARNATION MILK OMELET
4 eggs; 4 tsp. cornstarch; 1 tsp. baking powder; 1 tsp. salt; 1 cup Carnation Milk mixed with 4 tbsp. water.
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Mix cornstarch and salt, and add gradually the cold milk, mixed with 4 tbsp. water, then add to beaten yolks. Beat egg whites stiff and add the baking powder, then cut and fold in the first mixture. Butter sides and bottom of heated omelet pan, turn in mixture, place on range where it will cook slowly. When brown on bottom put in oven to finish cooking the top. The omelet is cooked when firm to the touch. This recipe serves from four to six people.

CORN BREAD
3/4 cup flour; 3/4 cup water; 1 cup corn meal; 1/2 cup Carnation Milk; 1 egg; 1/2 tsp. salt; 2 tsp. baking powder; 2 tsp. butter or substitute.
Mix flour, corn meal, salt and baking powder. Add water, beaten egg and liquid. Add melted butter and beat vigorously. Pour into shallow pan which has been well oiled and bake in a moderately hot oven. The mixture must be thin.

There are many other recipes as good as these in the Carnation Cook Book. Send for it.

Why must every Paramount Picture be a worth-while photoplay?

Because it has to be! Because thousands of theatres, each representing a large investment of capital, depend on Paramount Pictures to draw those large, regular audiences which justify such financial enterprise.

We have gone on record for years that whenever you see a picture announced Paramount you will find it good.

All that we have and all that we stand for in supremacy and ideals is concentrated in that name.

We know that you will go by that name only as long as we make it mean the best shows, such, for example, as "The Covered Wagon," which, created by Paramount in the ordinary course of production, is today being acclaimed "the greatest picture ever made!"

The day we started to put the name Paramount on every film we released, the day we started to tell the world what it stood for, that day the guarantee of a good time for you was made doubly certain!

PROHIBITION OFFICERS DELAY SURRENDER

Greensboro, Ga., June 6.—(Special.)—Six prohibition enforcement officers, charged with murder in warrants issued today, failed to show up at the county jail at 4 o'clock this afternoon as they had promised. Instead, they phoned from the office of Director Dismuke, in Atlanta, saying they would surrender at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Preliminary hearing on the charges will be held at that time.

The officers are charged with murder in connection with the shooting to death near here last Friday night of two alleged liquor runners. Relatives of the dead men, who came here to investigate the killings, claim they have discovered evidence to prove that the killing of the two men was murder.

They appeared before J. S. Calloway, local justice of the peace, this morning and swore out warrants against each of the officers said to have been in the party which killed the two men. The warrants were turned over to Sheriff Hixon for service.

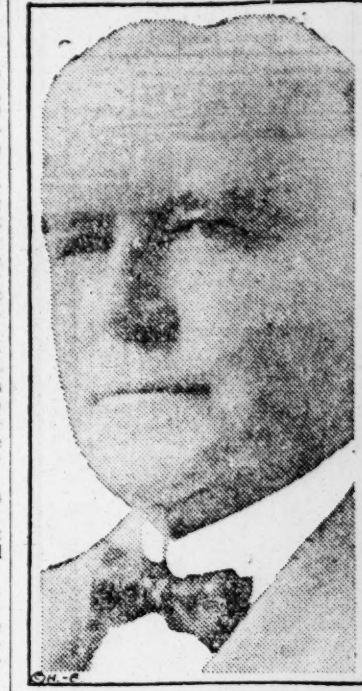

Sheriff Hixon called the officers by long distance phone and notified them of the charges, and asked that they surrender. They agreed to do so.

It is understood here, however, that Mr. Dismuke is hiding the men temporarily in Atlanta, and that he will attempt to prevent their imprisonment and trial in Greene county on the charges.

The officers named in the murder warrants are I. T. Lovejoy, Greene county policeman; E. N. Brooks, Union Point chief of police; J. T. L. Darby, White Plains policeman; W. J. Sturdivant, sheriff of Taliaferro county; Ed Howell, Crawfordville policeman, and A. H. Gastley, deputy United States marshal.

of visiting Shrine officials at luncheon, and later received a 100-pound selection of California fruits and flowers from Islam temple of San Francisco.

Former President Wilson was serenaded at his home by the Greenville, S. C., patrol, and exchanged greetings with the visitors.

Army, navy, coast guard and air service exhibitions were held during the day for the benefit of the Shriner, a large number of whom were guests of Major General Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps, on a boat trip to the marine base at Quantico, Va.

Regatta Staged.

The Southern Rowing association also staged a regatta on the Potomac and a swimming meet, sanctioned by the amateur athletic union, was held in the Tidal Basin, while a massed band concert, in which army, navy and marine bands took part, was held near the Washington monument under the auspices of the Belleau Wood Memorial association. The Shriner themselves conducted a number of concerts at hospitals and other points in the city.

The uniformed bodies of the Shriner, numbering more than 20,000, held their second parade tonight, marching on Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to Washington circle, nearly two miles, under a brilliant canopy of red, yellow and green lights. President and Mrs. Harding reviewed the parade. A shower in the afternoon had served to cool the air a little, and the marchers, in their multi-colored costumes, were grateful for the relief after another sultry day crowded with varied activities.

FRANCE TO MEET GERMANY'S PLANS

to outline their eventual reply. The Belgians, while skeptical as to the acceptability of Germany's new proposals, expressed the opinion that the offer should be examined into and answered. As the note will be addressed to all the allies, the Belgians were of the belief it would afford an opportunity to restore the allied front by a joint reply. M. Poincare assented to this.

The plans agreed upon by the conferees to increase the effectiveness of the Ruhr occupation as a producer of returns, both in kind and in cash, included the creation of an international syndicate to exploit tobacco and alcohol monopolies in the occupied regions. This measure in the Belgian plan bears the notation "must be submitted to Great Britain." It was accepted by M. De Lasteyrie, the French finance minister, on behalf of Poincare.

The Belgians feel that Great Britain again has been made an active party to the settlement of the reparations question owing to this reference to her for approval of provisions accepted by the French. The Belgians entered the conference in the hope of serving as a link between the French and the British, and afterwards M. Jaspard, who for months has been an exponent of the British views on co-operation with France, was able to say "we have done good work" and "the French delegates likewise, we are quite satisfied."

The first "doctor of medicine" was Guilelmo Gordonio, who received the honor from the College of Aosti, in Italy, in 1220.

J. B. SHELNUTT CO.

33 S. BROAD ST. Atlanta's Greatest BARGAIN STORE

WOOLWORTH TO ERECT STORE ON WHITEHALL

Tentative plans for the erection of a modern store on the site just leased from Whitehall Street associates for a period of 25 years at an aggregate rental of approximately $1,500,000, were disclosed Wednesday by J. R.

Allan and E. H. Miller, local officials of F. W. Woolworth company.

The property fronts 75 feet on the east side of Whitehall street, beginning at the Atlanta National bank and extending northward. The depth is 125 feet. Present tenants of the property are the A. K. Hawkes company, Allen-Chapman company, E. J. Perkinson and the Regal Shoe company.

Possession will be given the Woolworth company on January 1, 1924. The buildings to be razed are four two-story stores. Otto F. Feil, real estate agent, represented Whitehall Street associates in the lease.

The property acquired by the Woolworth company is about half of the Central bank block property, which was leased from the Central Bank Block association to Whitehall Street associates about one year ago. The term was for 50 years, the aggregate rental being $3,000,000. The frontage of the original tract was approximately 152 feet.

While the amount is approximately half of the entire total of the Central Bank block property lease, the present lease involves only about half the tract and the term is only half that of the original lease. This means, according to Mr. Feil, that the present lease rental for the property has doubled since the lease was signed one year ago.

'Con' Men Active In Mid-Europe; Use Old Swindle

Budapest, June 6.—"Do you want to buy $100—cheap?"

The question is asked in mid-Europe today in the same stealthy tone used by persons selling risqué post cards on the Paris boulevards. It is easy to buy dollars, cheap, in Budapest. Any number of oily swindlers have them for sale. An old confidence dodge, but one that never seems to fail, provided the selected victim has an itching palm.

The process is always the same. The con man picks his victim, an "easy" looking tourist. The story he tells is the place where they make more money than all the rest of the world put together. The Austrian mint at Vienna, for example, grinds out some 70,000,000 kronen every day.

Best Etcher Discharged. Well, Mr. Tourist, they've had some trouble over there, and one of their best etchers has been discharged. He knows more about making money than anyone else in the world. He has retained his etching machine, and can sit down and in a morning's work grind out a copper plate of an American $20 bill, an English 100-pound note, or a French 100-franc bill. But he happens to have some green paper, and so is making just plain dollar bills these days.

The trouble is in getting rid of them. He can make $1,000 a day, but what would the police say if a poor Hungarian was seen spending thousands of dollars? Now if Mr. Tourist would pay, well, $500 cash for $10,000 money "just as good."

If the Yankee has a little submerged crooked streak somewhere, he tumbles. And is badly hit. It's all so simple that sometimes the crooks must be ashamed to take the money. Secret Negotiations. Negotiations go on, secretly, in a hotel room. The victim produces his $500. The crook shows him samples of the money. Every test is applied. The fake money is held up to the light, burned, torn. Yes, the color is right, the shreds of hairs are there. It certainly looks like good cash.

"Point—ha ha," says the con man, twisting up a dollar bill and lighting his cigarette from it. "It is—junk!"

That convinces the Yankee. He pays $500, and gets a suitcase full of fake money, done up in bundles. The stranger departs.

Then the victim opens his gold mine. The top layer of bundles has one dollar bills on top of each bundle. Underneath are slips of white paper, or wrapped-up newspapers.

And the $15, $20 that was in sight on top of the suitcase is 100 per cent good American cash. So was the $1 the con man burned. There isn't any aged etcher faking money—for the money just can't be faked.

Yes, they worked it on the hovey in 1896—and they are still working it, strong, here today.

CHARLES WHITEHEAD DIES AT MACON HOME

News has been received in Atlanta of the sudden death of Charles A. Whitehead, one of the leaders in the cotton oil industry of the south, at his home in Macon on Monday.

Mr. Whitehead had resided in Macon for two years, having come to that city from Sandersville.

Mr. Whitehead had devoted the greater part of his life to the cotton oil industry, holding positions with many of the large manufacturers of cotton seed oil and its products. At the time of his death he was connected with the American Cotton Oil company in Macon.

He is survived by his widow, step-daughter, Miss Miriam Smith Deal, and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel H. Hickey and Mrs. Raymond Thompson, of this city.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS ARE GIVEN BANQUET

Delegates to the state convention of funeral directors were entertained at a banquet Wednesday night on the Ansley Hotel roof, followed by a dance at which more than 200 members and guests were present. A luncheon held at the Woman's club auditorium Wednesday at 1 o'clock marked the opening of the second day. The afternoon was given over to the delegates for inspection of an elaborate display of undertaking materials arranged by salesmen attending the convention.

President E. L. Almond, of Social

Circle, opened the convention Tuesday with an address, which was followed by Mayor Walter A. Sims, who welcomed the delegates. Dr. W. A.

Davis, director of the state bureau of vital statistics, who was the principal speaker at the morning session, told of the serious responsibility of officials who supervise the making of and who have custody of vital statistics.

Which paint stick are you using?

- 1 You can use the yard stick, and buy a paint because it covers so many square yards.
- 2 You can use the job stick, that tells you what the job will cost, but nothing about how long the paint will last.
- 3 Or you can use the paint-year-stick that measures a paint's wearing qualities and tells you how many years your building will be properly protected.

As for us, we use the paint-year-stick, because we have found out that length of service is the real measure of paint value. Drop in at any of our dealers and do a little measuring with this stick of ours and do a little figuring with that pencil of yours. Have a notion there's a surprise ahead for you.

Why this is your year to come to Royal Cords

1. The New Sprayed Rubber

the first absolutely pure rubber, produced by a new scientific process from the rubber latex. Positively uniform in quality. Acid-free, and uncontaminated with smoke residues or foreign matter of any kind.

2. The New Web Cord

for the first time a rubber-webbed cord structure without cross tie-threads. Impregnated through and through with pure rubber by direct soaking in the latex itself. Not to be confused with the practice of using chemical solutions employing naphtha solvents.

3. The New Flat-Band Method of Building Cord

Tires—a method ensuring the positive length, angle, tension and strength of each cord. Making a uniform tire equalized throughout in resiliency and resistance to wear.

UP to now, the car-owner has never had much definite physical information about tires to guide him in investing his tire money.

Today the publication of the three U. S. Rubber discoveries has raised definite scientific tests of tire money's worth applicable to all tires:—

Is the tread made of Sprayed Rubber, acid-free and uniform in quality? Or isn't it?

Is the carcass built of Web Cord, the new rubber-webbed cord structure, free from cross tie-threads? Or isn't it?

Is it Flat-Band Built, each cord positive in length, angle, tension and strength? Or isn't it?

Tire-buyers by the thousands are making good use of these test questions. This is demonstrated by two things:—

The number of new users of Royal Cords. A million new users in 1923 seems likely.

The complete stocks of U. S. Royal Cords in the stores of legitimate tire dealers. Unqualified support of the three U. S. Rubber discoveries by the permanent element of the retail tire trade.

MUSIC PUPILS ARRIVE IN ATLANTA FOR MEET

Approximately 200 music students will arrive here today and Friday from points in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, to attend the South Atlantic Junior Music club convention which opens Friday morning, and continues through Saturday. All meetings and recitals will be held in the Woman's club auditorium.

The organization consists of boys and girls who are students of music. Included in this number are both individual musicians and orchestras. A number of recitals will be held, at which prizes will be presented for best performances.

The constitution has been requested to announce that homes are needed for the entertainment of the delegates during Friday night. Although many of the boys and girls will be guests of the Atlanta members, it is found that enough accommodations can not be afforded through them alone. Any one willing to entertain a delegate Friday night is requested to notify Mrs. J. Edwin Walker, at HEEmock 5892.

MANY JOIN COLORED "Y" AFTER CAMPAIGN

Although the membership campaign of the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. closed recently, many new members have joined the association during the past few days. It was announced Wednesday, May 30, Saturday morning members of the boys' department will take their first hike of the season. A public forum meeting will be held in the lobby of the Butler street building Sunday.

For the first time in hundreds of years the rules of the courts of Japan, China, India and Egypt were broken recently when Judge John H. Norris, New York's only woman judge, was allowed to occupy the judicial bench of those countries.

PAY TO THE ORDER OF City of Atlanta $ 4,201,000.00

FOUR MILLION TWO HUNDRED SIXTY ONE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED EIGHTY EIGHT & 69/100 -- DOLLARS

To THE FULTON NATIONAL BANK, ATLANTA.

J. H. HILSMAN & COMPANY

Who said the city of Atlanta was financially embarrassed? The above check of J. H. Hilsmann & company, of Atlanta and New York, was deposited to the city's credit Wednesday at the Fulton National bank, one of the four city depositories. It was given in payment for the recent $4,000,000 school and improvement bond issue sold to the Hilsmann company. The amount of the check was declared by local bankers to be one of the largest ever drawn on an Atlanta institution.

Augusta Policeman Is Acquitted by Jury Of Murder Charge

Augusta, Ga., June 6.—(Special.) Thomas A. Fell, member of the police department here, charged with voluntary manslaughter following the shooting death of W. P. Roberts, son, an ex-member of the department, here on May 4, 1922, was tried in superior court here Wednesday and the jury after a deliberation of but five minutes returned a verdict of not guilty.

The defense contended that the shots were fired by the policeman in self-defense, and that Roberts had threatened the officer's life on several occasions.

TAX EQUALIZATION BATTLE PREDICTED

provided sufficient safeguards for the state's revenue. Some of the members of the legislature have expressed this opinion; others have declared the first work of the legislature should be the abolition of the equalization law, after which they should settle down in an effort to work out other measures to provide the state with adequate funds.

There will be some effort to abolish our present tax law," declares C. O. Stevens, member of the legislature from Crawford, "but it will not amount to much. It should not be abolished until we first work out a plan that we can agree upon and that we know is a better one than we have. It would be a calamity to abolish our present law and not have something ready to substitute for it and have to revert to the old law of simply allowing the property owners to give in what they please at an old price they please."

Mr. Stevens expressed the belief that certain classes of property which are now exempt, bonds and securities, should be taxed.

Favor Repeal.
A number of the members of the legislature are for an unconditional and immediate repeal of the equalization law, but possibly a bigger percentage express the belief that it would be unwise to repeal this measure without first providing some measure which will provide at least an equal amount of revenue.

"Before I would destroy the machinery which has enabled this state to raise a sufficient revenue to run on for the past few years," declares J. P. Shedd, representative-elect from Wayne county, "I would provide some other means of raising this revenue. I favor an income tax and other special taxes that will make it unnecessary to levy a property tax for state revenue."

Lee J. Langley, of Rome; H. L. McDonald, of Pelham; S. P. New, of Dublin; J. L. Johnson, of Cumming; Tommie Dubose, of Athens; Craig R. Arnold, of Dahlonega, and various other legislators of the state declare their intention of standing by the tax equalization law until a better tax raising system is manufactured by the legislature.

Mr. McDonald states: "The system operated should be improved in many of the counties in order that the burden may be equalized," expresses the belief that the law under fire and declares he does not favor its abolition.

Plan of New.
A general classification of property for taxing purposes is considered advisable by Mr. New, who declares the ad valorem system of taxation is best and safest and announces he will not favor its repeal unless something better is proposed.

Mr. Johnson declares the bill should be amended to include all property, stating that the present system "lets too many things go by," while Dr. Arnold expresses the firm belief that "the system of the various boards has been, seemingly, directed at really. Of course, the much discussed 'invisible property' should be reached, but I have not yet reached the point where I consider that a majority of the property owners of Georgia are perjurers and I believe the matter will adjust itself and that an income tax, added to that of the federal government, will not become necessary."

Experts Repeal of Law.
Thomas Davis expresses the opinion that the law will be repealed and replaced by an income tax, while Mr. Camp declares the majority of the people of the state favor the repeal of the law and also states the belief that a tax on incomes will be substituted.

Mr. Sapp declares the tax equalization system should be abolished, adding that "the activities of the various boards have been, seemingly, directed at really. Of course, the much discussed 'invisible property' should be reached, but I have not yet reached the point where I consider that a majority of the property owners of Georgia are perjurers and I believe the matter will adjust itself and that an income tax, added to that of the federal government, will not become necessary."

Among other special taxes being proposed, the general opinion around the statehouse seems to select the proposed soft drink tax, an additional gasoline tax.

MEMBERS OF DIAL PROVING WORTH

gress. (The Dial includes a marked sprinkling of teachers and professors from institutions of learning.) One member of the Dial is in fact a member of a counterpart of the late Champ Clark.

There was 100 per cent absence of either rant or cant. There was a speech of the sort which in Washington we characterize as "made for home consumption." Even in those parts of the debates which covered the proposals for amnesty and therefore went to the heart of the existence of the Dial, and even of the free state, there was good temper and reasonableness.

One of the most vivid impressions borne in upon the writer was the quality of the labor members of the Dial. They had a dignity, a power of thought, a freedom from dogmatism, and, above all, a patience, a restraint of words and manner which was rather higher than the average in any legislative body the present writer has ever seen in any capital. In the Dial the labor party is the opposition party, but the leader was as far as possible from the customary habit of opposition leaders of seeking openings to embarrass the government.

Official Language Gaelic.
In the Dial the official language is Gaelic. But you may sit through a full day's session without hearing more than half a dozen words of that ancient tongue. A few of the formalities are in Gaelic. When the names of the members are given in the Irish form, and when the members reply they do so in the Gaelic words for "yes" and "no." But when a member makes a speech he makes it in English.

A good many members of the Dial could make their speeches in Gaelic if they chose, but as to most of them it would be like our American Senator McMillin McCormick making a speech in French, as he occasionally has done. The distinguished Gaelic speakers have been on the floor of congress. With the great bulk of the Irish, Gaelic, so far as they know it at all, is an acquired tongue. It is taught now universally in the schools, but the pupils, for the most part, learn it as they might learn Latin.

In the west and south of Ireland there are several areas where Irish is, in the true sense, the language of common use. But while I have seen no estimate from any authoritative source, I should be surprised if the number of persons who use Gaelic naturally and habitually is more than 5 per cent of the population. There is a group of the ardent national leaders who are passionately determined to revive the ancient tongue and make it universal, as the Bohemian patriots did, and the Greeks. It will take a long time and be an uphill job.

However extensively Gaelic may be revived, Ireland will always be more or less compelled to speak English, also. The closeness of its trade relations with England and America will make that necessary. But those Irish leaders who know that language is the soul of a nation are determined to bring Gaelic back. Although in the thirty years since the Gaelic literary movement started they have rescued the ancient tongue from what then seemed certain extinction. It was the teaching of Gaelic in the schools and the widely diffused pride and affection in the old culture which, more than any other cause, made the recent fight against England more successful than any previous one.

Tragedy of De Valera.
In the Dial debates, in the references to De Valera, there was one phrase so often repeated that one felt obliged to take account of it. The phrase was "peculiar mentality." It was used in perfect good temper by those who gave evidence of being fair, and even friendly, to the insurgent personally. Other characterizations of De Valera were "metaphysician," "philosopher," "mathematician." One felt convinced that De Valera, by temperament and by the limitations of his experience, is a man who has dealt too much in the world of abstractions and too little with concrete actualities. He would have been a mighty figure among those old monks who used to debate those how many angels could stand on the south-west corner of the point of a pin. De Valera was the dialectician of the Irish revolution, as Thomas Jefferson was the dialectician of ours. But De Valera is a good deal, a very great deal, more distant from Thomas Jefferson than Michael Collins was from George Washington, or Arthur Griffith from Alexander Hamilton.

The tragedy of De Valera was similar to several others that occurred elsewhere during the war. A man happened to be in a spot when certain conditions arose. By the accident of juxtaposition, and not by any adaptation to the particular need, he was thrust into a position and a kind of leadership for which nature never intended him. But, once in that position, he became to the world not only a man, but also a symbol. Being a symbol, it became expedient for those identified with the cause to make out that he was the perfect man for the place. By every sort of propaganda for the stirring up of popular emotion a picture of the symbol was built up which had little revelation to the actual man. There were several such cases in various countries during the war, and since the war there has been a process of reevaluation, mostly downward, a process painful to the individual and also to the people who had been led to identify him as other than he actually was. (I have sometimes thought that the propaganda practiced during the war did more harm—more spiritual harm, that is—than the physical harm government practiced than the physical harm of the bullets of the enemy.)

This post-war reevaluation of wartime heroes has been chiefly downward. To the individual it has been acutely painful, and to the people it has been accompanied by the pain of disillusionment. And yet, should be remembered, the individuals are not to be blamed. They were the victims of accident and of the misapplied zeal of the propagandists of their own sides. The same individuals, placed in positions to which their temperaments and capacities were adapted, would have had an enduring and increasing fame.

The Irish patriots were told that De Valera was a combination of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Daniel O'Connell and Brian Boru. Having been given that conception of him, therefore, in a country where action had to be instantaneous and there was no possibility of calm consideration, when De Valera called on the Irish to oppose the Free State, it is little wonder that many of the very best, the most devoted of the Irish patriots followed him into one of the most unfortunate phases of Irish history. Sooner or later these Irish irregulars, after their exaltation has died down, will laugh the unhappy memory away by saying they ought to have known that this permanent Spaniard, who happened to have 50 per cent of Irish blood, was not really the true Irish brand, and that they ought to have been careful in the beginning to see to it that their first president should have had the more assuring name of Murphy, or O'Brien, or Lynch, or Cosgrave.

The principal point now made by De Valera against the Free State is that officers of the new government must take an oath of allegiance to the British king. It is wholly a point of dialectics. The oath is perfunctory. For an Irishman to take that oath under the present status of the Free State is much less serious and involves less violence to the conscience than for a San Francisco policeman or a Montana prosecuting attorney—if he does not happen to believe, personally, in prohibition, to take his formal oath to support and enforce the constitution of the United States. Because the prohibition amendment to our constitution is a living thing, meant to be enforced and obeyed, where the Free State oath does not convey or imply that the king of England can or will try to exercise any actual authority over Ireland.

It is not merely that De Valera's inscription lost a thousand lives to Ireland. It is not merely that the property damage is estimated at close to half a billion dollars, or three times Ireland's entire annual revenue. (It is proposed that all whose property was destroyed by the insurgents shall be given compensation by the government. Probably the sorest wound De Valera gave was robbing the people and persons of Irish blood everywhere throughout the world of the exaltation of spirit which they might have had on the announcement of Ireland's freedom after 700 years of aspiration. Just as that joyful emotion was beginning to voice itself De Valera proclaimed that the grant of freedom was imperfect in form and led off with his inscription against the acceptance of it. That action on his part threw cold water on the rising flames of one of the most exalted emotions in history. In truth, the freedom Great Britain granted Ireland was far beyond what reasonable Irishmen and Irish sympathizers expected. This quality of pleasing surprise which was just beginning to flare up when De Valera took all the joy out of it.

For all of this the Irish now are conscious of penitence. They have a shy embarrassment, a lowering of the eyelids, as they ask you: "What does America think of us now?" They realize that the year after Ireland

DANGER SIGNALS OF INDIGESTION

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning.

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "lets down" in tone and vigor with the first approach of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tell us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. 3. A dull, lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Dan-Nax, the greatest prescription that was ever written for a digestive tonic. Dan-Nax immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including the stomach, liver and bowels. Dan-Nax makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Dan-Nax today at any drug store. Dan-Nax is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the manufacturers have instructed every druggist to refund the price if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous, get Dan-Nax today.—(adv.)

MISS STIRLING FINISHES 2ND

Collett, of Providence, R. I., national champion, today won the eastern golf championship at Whitemarsh by turning in a card of 88 for the third and final round of 18 holes. Her total for the 54 holes, medal play, was 248.

From all indications the game between the Gorillas and Tigers will be the most closely contested. "Skeeter" Bokritzky's team now occupies first place in the standing, but Morris Meisels Gorillas are right on his heels in a tie for second place, and they have reached such a position through splendid victories in recent games. Should the Gorillas win, the league will end in a triple tie between the Tigers, Lions and Gorillas. If

THE VITAL FLAME

BY MAY CHRISTIE

A Stirring Serial of Primitive Passions

CHAPTER LXXXIV.
Sturdevant's Surprising Statement.
"A business appointment," Leonie began, "I am sorry, but I cannot leave a woman in distress to swoon away on the hot pavements? No, no,
I won't believe it of you."

In playful manner, but with a vast determination behind the coy phrases, she Leonie pointed her finger at the other. "But I—my appointment is at 2 o'clock, and I have to get round to my bank before that, and see to several things in the office that demand immediate attention."

"And you must also eat," said Leonie firmly, placing a strong little hand upon a reluctant arm. "I can't allow you to get thin and run-down, you know. Come on."

The "I can't allow"—was so she thought—a clever touch. It implied a certain possessiveness, didn't it? And Mr. Sturdevant had to be quite delightfully attentive. She was going to let a trifle like this report of the woman's inquiry upset her "friendships," particularly when such friendships happened to be with charming, wealthy, influential men?

The financier hesitated. He longed to get away, if escape could be achieved easily.
But on the other hand, he didn't want to offend Miss Leonie. Day wasn't he a friend of fascinating Lady Warrington, whom he very much admired? Apart from his own inherent chivalry, which would prevent him doing anything rude, or impudent, he wanted very badly to stand high in Lady Warrington's good graces.

"If you'd do me the honor of luncheon with me, I'm sure," he began, uncertainly, that he added, quickly:
"It would have to be just a hasty snack, you know."

Leonie beamed in great good humor.
She had won.
"You need a woman to look after you," she rallied him as they hurried along Wall street together. "I'm sure you don't eat enough, or sleep enough, or take holidays enough."

The man looked embarrassed, and more particularly when the young lady seized his arm, walking extremely close to him. His friends would probably see him, and there would be subsequent jokes and teasing, the very thought of which he loathed.
He was glad when they reached the building in whose basement the restaurant was located.

"Such a charming place! So cool
after the noon-day glare!" cooed Leonie. "And oh!" she gave an affected little squeak—"do look at those darling footers on the walls!
How very original!"
The stone-carved walls were rather unusual, but he was glad when he had piloted his companion safely into a table in a quiet, private room, where they were comparatively out of sight. Many of his business associates came to this restaurant, and today he didn't feel too proud of this blatant maiden, with her made-up complexion and her coquettish eyes. It wasn't only the report of that tragic affair down on Long Island that had disillusioned him, but as this girl had shown up in the city in Leonie that he had long since guessed her keen eye to the main chance, that she couldn't hide from anyone for long, her ruthless determination to have her own way, at any cost.

Is Hostess.

Mrs. Cecil E. Angell was hostess
at a bridge-ten Wednesday afternoon at her home on East Fifth street.

The rooms where the game was played were decorated in yellow and white. Silver baskets and vases were placed on the mantels and bookcases filled with black-eyed Susans and golden glow.

Assisting Mrs. Angell in entertaining were Miss Evelyn Margaret Angell and Miss Helen Bates.

Mrs. Angell was wearing a brown brocade, flat crepe, trimmed with jade green.

The guests included Mesdames J.

Mrs. Patillo Gives Bridge Luncheon.

Miss Lilbourn Smith, bride-elect, was the guest of honor Wednesday
at a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs.
L. T. Patillo.

The luncheon table had for its central decoration a tall French basket holding pink and white roses, the handle tied with pink tulle.

The prizes were French novelties.
There were sixteen guests.

Miss Jackson Given
Wedding Shower.

An event of Saturday afternoon was the miscellaneous shower given by the Theta Beta class of the Harris Street Presbyterian church at the home of their teacher, Mrs. M. M.
Foster, 307 Moreland avenue, in honor of Miss Rose Jackson, a bride-elect of June. A contest in which the number of petals on a rose were guessed, was played, and Miss Edna Gimbrich won first prize, a handmade handkerchief. The color scheme was blue and gold, the class colors.

Among those present were:
Miss Louise Parham, Miss
Banks, Miss Edna Gimbrich, Mrs.
R. L. Gatehell, Miss Helen Jackson,
Miss Ruby Miers, Mrs. Sanford K.
Bell, Miss Matilda Hogan, Miss

Mrs. Roy Z. Chamlee will give a bridge-ten Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's club in honor of Miss Lillian Bloodworth, whose marriage will take place June 21.

When Hearts Command

BY ELIZABETH YORK
MILLER

Jean winced. It was here that Hector Gaunt and she had first met, also.
As he waited for them, Hector engaged in more conversation with the caretaker, who had become most leaning and hospitable in a stately, dignified way. She bowed deeply as Gaunt and Jean approached, and there were tears in her eyes.

"Why—it's Maddelina!" cried Jean.
Sure enough, it was Maddelina,
who had been cooking here in old Mme.
Douste's time. All these years Mad-delina had been here at the Villa Ta-tina—cooking, no doubt. She remembered them both, Hugo and Jean. Hector Gaunt, of course, was a familiar figure. He, curiously enough, had forgotten her. There was not getting out of it now. Maddelina had to go into the town for something, but she began to make herself at home in the garden until her return. She hurried away with her little dog, promising not to be long.

"I told you," said triumphantly Hugo, "I knew it would be all right. I saw the To Let sign on the gate several days ago." He skipped on ahead of them with the agility of a child.

Gaunt and Jean walked slowly. It seemed as though nothing had been done or altered in all those twenty-year. Time stood still in the old garden. Nothing—nothing had changed. There were the same borders of burning red salvia and calla lilies, edging the sweeping curve of the driveway as had welcomed Jean and her friend Mme. Douste, upon their arrival so long ago. There was the rose garden and the old sun dial;

Scope of Better Homes Movement

BY MRS. NEWTON C. WING, CHAIRMAN FOR ATLANTA

Few, perhaps, among the crowds who have this week been viewing Atlanta's "better home," realize the wide scope of this movement which has for its purpose the betterment of home conditions in America.

An infant, of less than a year's growth, this movement has grown from a celebration, last year in less than a thousand communities to a "better homes week" this year in more than 10,000 communities, large and small, in every section

Montgomery-Branch Wedding Is Lovely Social Event

The wedding of Miss Caroline Elizabeth Montgomery and Thomas Alfred Branch, Jr., which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church in Decatur, is of widespread interest. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. P. McTeague.

An effective arrangement of palms and ferns was used in decorating the altar of the church. Five cathedral candelabra arose out of the pyramids of palms and ferns, and the tall white candles shed a soft glow over the beautiful scene. Tribble baskets containing white gladioli were placed on the railing around the altar, and sprays of white gladioli were caught to the posts with fluffy bows of white tulle. The windows of the church were filled with ferns, and the pews for the families were marked off with white satin bows.

Immediately before the ceremony Miss Agnes Adams played "Salute to the Bride," on the violin, accompanied by Miss Cliff Mable at the organ.

During the ceremony Miss Adams and Miss Mable played softly "The Venetian Love Song."

The first of the bridal party to enter to the strains of "Lohengrin" wedding march were Mr. George and Ed Stubbs down one aisle, and Montgomery Harris, Roy Jones, and Avel Avery down the other aisle alternately.

Next came two bridesmaids, one down each aisle. Mrs. Roy G. Jones wore pink chiffon with overdraperies of pink develop tulle, caught to the left side with a spray of tiny pink French roses and loops of silver ribbon. A hand of iridescent sequins fringed the top of the bodice, and little clusters of pink French roses. Side draperies of pink tulle edged with silver ribbon fell from the shoulders below the bottom of the skirt. She wore a silver band in her hair, and silver slippers. Her flowers were pink sweet peas with cascades of the same blossoms.

Miss Katie Hazel Houston wore a gown of yellow chiffon, with side panels of the chiffon falling below the hem. Two circular flowers finished the bottom of the skirt. The waistline was finished with two bands of silver ribbon, and small yellow French roses. Narrow ruffles finished the top of the bodice and fell off the shoulders. She wore a silver band and silver slippers, and carried lavender sweet peas in shower effect.

Two groomsmen entered next. Joe Wilson and Mendor Farmer, one in each aisle. They were followed by the other two bridesmaids, Miss Jane Jackson and Miss Beatrice Winslow. Miss Jackson wore a blue chiffon gown, the skirt being finished with circular flounces and side drapery. The bodice was finished with blue French roses and silver ribbon, with bands of silver ribbon finishing the waistline. She also wore a silver band and silver slippers, and carried pink sweet peas.

Miss Winslow wore a green chiffon, fashioned with a draped skirt, the bodice trimmed with French roses, and bands of silver ribbon finishing the waistline. She also wore a silver band and silver slippers, and carried pink sweet peas.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Clifford Ansley, entered next. Her gown was of white crepe with draped skirt and overdraperies of white Spanish lace. She wore a silver band and silver slippers, and carried an arm bouquet of premier roses.

The two little flower girls, Sara Catherine Terrell and Anne Jeter, followed the matron, wearing ruffled frocks of pink organdie, and wreaths of pink roses in their hair. They carried baskets of garden flowers.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Frank L. Irwin and Charles Rupert left Friday for a visit to relatives in Mascouta, Iowa, and New Boston, Ill. They will be away until school opens in September.

Mrs. L. R. Blanton, of Richmond, Ky., who is visiting her cousin, Mrs. E. B. Hume, 975 North Boulevard, will return home Friday.

Miss Elizabeth Merritt has returned from Cleveland, Tenn., where she graduated at Centenary college.

Miss Mary Will Montgomery, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore lavender chiffon, with narrow ruffles pinned with silver down each side of the skirt. Silver bands and French flowers across the front finished the waistline. She wore an iridescent band in her hair, and silver slippers completed her costume. Her flowers were Columbia roses and pink sweet peas.

The ring bearer, Arthur Willis Branch, nephew of the groom, preceded the bride, wearing a white satin suit, and bearing the ring on a white satin pillow.

The Lovely Bride.

The bride, entering with her father, John Montgomery, was a picture of girlish loveliness in her bridal robe of white satin. The sleeves were of Princess lace, and the bodice was trimmed in the same lace, draped at one side, and caught with a hand-made pearl ornament. A court train was caught to the shoulders with small pearl buckles.

The flying tulle veil was adjusted with a coronet of orange blossoms, and was edged with princess lace. She carried a quiff-shaped bouquet of orchids, lilies of the valley, bride's roses cascaded with white sweet peas.

Lovely Reception.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

Immediately following the ceremony at the church an elaborate reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. John Montgomery, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of gray crepe, trimmed with gray silk lace. She wore a corsage bouquet of Columbia roses and lilies of the valley. She was assisted by the mother of the groom, Mrs. Thomas Alfred Branch, Sr., who wore a beautiful gown of black lace, embroidered in gold.

She was assisted in receiving by her niece, Mrs. Charles Clarke, of Portland, Ore., who wore black spangled chiffon.

Others assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Laurence Fowler, Mrs. Charles Starling, Mrs. R. B. Ridley, Mrs. Guy Webb, Mrs. P. H. Jeter, Mrs. Ed Terrell, Miss Louise Colzey, and Mrs. E. B. Branch, who wore orchid chiffon.

The Bride's Table.

The house was beautifully decorated with Dorothy Perkins roses in silver baskets and vases. The chandeliers were entwined with fern.

The bride's table was covered with a handsome cloth of Madeira embroidery and lace. The bride's cake, in three tiers, was embossed in lilies of the valley and orange blossoms, and rested in a mound of pink sweet peas and roses.

Four silver candelsticks tied with pink tulle held pink candles, and silver-bowled dishes held heart-shaped mints and almonds. The loaves were frozen in the shape of wedding bells, roses and slippers.

Miss Harriet Mack kept the bride's book.

Miss Marion Weeks and Miss Estelle Gardner served punch. Miss Weekes wore pink chiffon, and Miss Gardner wore white chiffon. Miss Mack wore a gown of orchid chiffon.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. T. P. Vincent, aunt of the groom, who wore a gown of black sequins, with a gold girder; Miss Orey Vincent, cousin of the groom, who wore gold lace; Mrs. Charles Clarke, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Avery, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Smith.

The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for Savannah, where they will go by boat to New York; Boston and other points of interest.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Jr., Honors Recent Bride.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Jr., was hostess at a bridge-ten at her apartment on East Seventeenth street for Mrs. Lauren Goldsmith, a recent bride, who was formerly Miss Marguerite Rowe, of Athens, Ga.

The rooms where the game was played was artistically decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. Moore received her guests wearing a gown of blue crepe. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Sr., Mrs. Russell Johnson, and Mrs. Joseph Blount.

Twelve guests were invited for bridge and later about fifteen members of the older married contingent were invited for tea.

Miss Cooley Weds Mr. Culpepper at Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mary Lillian Cooley and Sterling Culpepper was an interesting but quiet event of Saturday evening, June 2, and took place at 7 o'clock, in the study of Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was handsomely gowned in brown crepe, and her hat of brown straw was flower trimmed. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas and roses.

Mrs. Culpepper is the daughter of Mrs. M. D. Cooley, of Nash county, North Carolina, and her father the late Mr. Cooley, was a prominent planter. Her uncle, the late Roger A. Pryor Cooley, was conceded the most brilliant lawyer in eastern North Carolina. Her mother, was a Miss Drake of that family in the states, accredited as a descendant of Sir Francis Drake.

Mr. Culpepper is a well-known young business man, enjoying a responsible business connection with one of the leading tobacco companies of America. He is the son of the late Sterling Culpepper, of Virginia, and from the county of that name.

The groom's mother for ten years a resident of Atlanta was a Miss Sims, of LaGrange, member of the well-known family of that name in Troup county.

Mr. and Mrs. Culpepper will make their home at 73 Peachtree place, where they will keep house. They are in North Carolina on their wedding journey.

Next came the groomsmen, who were Olmstead Knox, John Knox, Richard Courts and William Parker. They were followed by the bridesmaids, who entered singly and wore Misses Sarah Orme, Jennie Johnson,

Miss Pegram Weds Mr. Harrison At Lovely Home Ceremony

Uniting two of the south's most prominent families and taking a distinguished place among the lovely June weddings was the marriage of Miss Virginia Wyatt Pegram to Dr. Sales Harrison, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker Pegram III, on East Sixteenth street.

Beautiful Altar.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father James A. Horton in the living room of the handsome home where an altar of stately palms and ferns was erected before the fireplace. Lending to the altar were three white satin steps, above which rose silver cathedral candelabra in pyramid effect. Tall white tapers burned unshaded in the silver holders and cast a soft glow over the pretty scene presented by the bridal party.

Just in front of the background of palms and marking the center of the lovely setting were stately ascension lilies, the effect being softened by white snapdragons and sweet peas.

Bridal Party.

Entering first to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by the Howard theater orchestra, was the little flower girl, Vaughn Nixon, whose crisp pink tulle frock was scalloped around the bottom and trimmed in dainty pink rosebuds. She carried a small French basket filled with garden flowers.

Next came the groomsmen, who were Olmstead Knox, John Knox, Richard Courts and William Parker. They were followed by the bridesmaids, who entered singly and wore Misses Sarah Orme, Jennie Johnson,

Miss Helene Johnson Weds Dr. Lawrence at Her Home

The marriage of Miss Helene Johnson and Dr. Charles E. Lawrence, which took place Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride 563 Ponce de Leon avenue was characterized by simplicity and beauty and was witnessed only by the families and close friends.

The lovely home was decorated with palms and ferns and the delicate tracery of smilax vines. Pedestal baskets filled with roses were placed on the altar in front of which the ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Dick, of LaGrange, Ga. Throughout the rooms silver baskets, filled with garden flowers, made charming spots of color.

Dr. E. H. Green was groomsmen and Dr. Luther H. Kelly, the best man.

Miss Louise Letton, the maid of honor, wore a lovely gown of old rose georgette combined with lace. Her corsage bouquet was of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jesse B. Latimer, wore a beautiful gown of Harding blue satin with side draperies of georgette. Her flowers were sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Bride Enters With Mother.
The bride entered the drawing room with her mother by whom she was given in marriage and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. Luther H. Kelly.

She presented a lovely appearance in her bridal gown of white georgette beaded in crystals and draped over white satin. Her hair was bound with a band of orange blossoms and her corsage bouquet was of sweetest roses and lilies of the valley.

Her only ornament was a platinum and diamond pin, the gift of the groom.

Following the ceremony a charming reception was held. The bride's table, covered with a Spanish lace cloth, held in the center a lovely wedding cake ornamented with a miniature church and surrounded with sweet peas and candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Johnson wore a handsome gown of black crepe combined with georgette and lace. Lavender sweet peas formed her corsage bouquet.

Leave for Asheville.
She was assisted by Miss Kate Smith who served punch in the sun parlor where the punch bowl was embedded in sweet peas and ferns.

Miss Gene McKinnick assisted in receiving the guests. She wore pearl grey crepe de chine.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for Asheville where they will remain for several weeks at the Manor. On their return they will be at home on Feld avenue in Decatur.

Dr. Lawrence is a graduate of the Atlanta Medical college. He served in France with the Emory unit and is a member of the Phi Chi fraternity of Emory.

Miss Smith Weds Mr. Blackburn in Emory Chapel

A quiet marriage characterized by beautiful simplicity was that of Miss Mary Frances Smith, of Madison, Fla., to the Rev. Henry Webster Blackburn, which was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday in the chapel of the Emory university theological school.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. Fred Blackburn, the father of the groom, of Miami, Fla., assisted by Dr. P. N. Parker, dean of Emory theological school.

The chapel of the chapel was decorated with palms and burning tapers in silver holders.

Before the ceremony, Miss Katherine Smith, sister of the bride, sang "Because of You," by Briggs, and J. Foster Barnes, of Emory university, sang Cadman's "At Dawning."

Tommy James, fraternity brother of the groom, played before and during the ceremony.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march.

Miss Katherine Smith wore a beautiful gown of orchid georgette crepe. Her hat was a heliotrope straw, trimmed with lavender crepe and heliotrope flowers, and her corsage was of pink Killarney roses.

The ushers were Randall Smith, brother of the bride, Percy Mullins, and other members of the A. T. O. fraternity.

The bride entered the chapel with her father, Columbus Smith, and was met at the altar by the groom.

She presented a charming appearance in a three-piece suit of dark blue tulle, with which she wore an imported hat of silver metal cloth trimmed with French flowers. Her corsage bouquet was of white roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, the Rev. Blackburn and his bride left for Oxford, Ga., where they will spend several days with Mrs. Julius McGath before going to Madison, Fla., the home of the bride, where a reception will be given for them.

Mrs. Blackburn is the second daughter of Columbus Smith, of Madison, Fla. She attended school at Florida State college for women for several years.

A touch of interest is added to this wedding by the fact that the groom received his degree of doctor of divinity from Emory college Tuesday morning. He is a member of the A. T. O. fraternity and has taken an active part in the student life of Emory for the past four years.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Miss L. Linder, Madison, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, and Miss Fannie Kate Hollingsworth, of Marietta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blake, of Dahlonega, Ga., Mrs. Julius McGath and Miss Katherine McGath, of Oxford, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hentz and Miss Frances Carroll, of Atlanta.

Perrysburg, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, Route 3, Perrysburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Silver Tea Will Be Given.

Baptist Minister, of North Carolina, Says He Owes His Good Health to the Use of Black-Draught.

Summit, N. C.—"My health is good and I can say with pleasure I owe it to Black-Draught," writes the Rev. J. H. Wilcoxon, local Baptist minister at this place. In the statement given here, Mr. Wilcoxon said that Black-Draught had been used in his home for fifteen to eighteen years.

"I have had a stomach trouble," said Mr. Wilcoxon, "so that after meals I would break out in perspiration and feel tight in the chest. I would go to my shelf, take a good dose of Black-Draught, and in less than an hour all this disagreeable tightness would disappear.

"I used it with my children for colds and constipation. I find it a splendid remedy for gas and sour stomach and I would not be without it."

Mrs. Wilcoxon said: "In the spring when I would feel sluggish, have a bad taste in my mouth and a light feeling in my head when I would stoop over when about my work, I knew it was coming liver, and that I must take something. Black-Draught is the best thing I know of. I use it in big doses at first, then small. It is fine—made me feel so much better. We feel that we couldn't get along without it."

The genuine, old, original Black-Draught powdered liver medicine has been used for over 80 years. Insist upon, and see that you get the genuine—Theodore's. Sold everywhere: 25c (64c).

CALL BELLE ISLE TAXICABS

Special at Keely's Second Floor Department

"Let's wake 'em up," said the buyer of the second floor department—"let's give them something they'll talk about all summer long." Very well, said the advertising man, if you're game and in dead earnest about the thing, let's see what you can offer—and just how much you are willing to offer the public for One Dollar.

She's game, all right! Began handing out things that actually surprised me. So, for the remainder of this week, or, rather, as long as the goods hold out, here's what One Dollar will purchase at Keely's—on the second floor.

House Dresses

(One Dollar)

Some call them Apron Dresses. At any rate, they look good enough for morning street frocks. Made of excellent quality washable percale—belted and pocketed styles, full cut, well made and a big variety of beautiful colors. All sizes up to 42.

Knitted "Unions"

(One Dollar)

If you ever saw a good value—here it is. Splendid quality knitted union suits, "Richelieu," "Kaiser" and "Marvell" makes with band tops and tape shoulders, shell knee, close fitting knee and wide closed styles—flesh and white.

Yes, "Teddies"

(One Dollar)

We would say these are priced about half, since most stores sell them for $1.98. Beautiful quality nainsook—light and sheer as can be—ideal for hot weather. Some are trimmed with round thread lace and medallions, others are plain tailored effects with fillet medallions and dainty hemstitching.

Stepins---Bloomers

(One Dollar)

Not so many of these, but enough perhaps for one day's selling, provided the selling is not too brisk. Made of Pilsene crepe, nicely finished; pink, white and orchid. A good buy, even if you don't need them right now. They'll keep.

Sateen Petticoats

(One Dollar)

You know how much good white sateen petticoats cost these days. Even a poor quality sells for as much as a dollar. Well, these are extraordinary, for the quality is as high, besides they are made with double panels and have a deep hemstitched flounce.

Corset Special

(One Dollar)

Frankly, these are broken sizes—olds and ends. Else it would be out of the question to let them go for a dollar each. There is a limit to everything, you know. Sizes 22 to 26 only. White, flesh and fancy stripes and brocades. Some have elastic tops and some are medium bust styles.

3 Vests for $1.00

(Very Special)

This is a white Swiss ribbed garment—very, very elastic and very full cut—length and width. Made with deep V neck that won't slip off the shoulders. The quantity is limited on this item, but those who do get in on this will remember the day.

Night Gowns

(One Dollar)

Two kinds are included in this sale. One lot is made of good quality light weight, soft finish nainsook—lace-trimmed. Some are finished with dainty medallions—all have ribbon inserted at the neck. The other lot is composed of colored crepe, solid colors and floral designs on pastel grounds.

Corset Covers

(One Dollar)

White nainsook—good quality—light and sheer as mull. They're trimmed with lace, the daintiest kind, and some are made with "built-up" shoulders. Others have the regulation corset cover tops. In department store parlance, these values are rated as "blinders."

Corset Brassieres

(One Dollar)

Side openers and back openers—made of fancy striped coutil, with good, strong hose supporters attached. Flesh colors. They tell me these things are mighty nice for hot weather. Sizes 32 to 44.

Miss Sarah Hall Weds Mr. Sutherland At Church Ceremony

Of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout Georgia was the marriage Tuesday evening of Miss Sarah Hall of Newman, Ga., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville A. Hall, and Mr. William Anderson Sutherland, which was solemnized at 8 o'clock at the new Central Baptist church in Newman.

Dr. C. W. Darden performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.
Palm and floral decorations were used in the decoration throughout the church. Rich green palms, smilax and ferns formed a background at the altar for tall pedestals filled with Easter lilies and white roses. Massive cathedral candelabra held white burning tapers.
A musical program was rendered. Mrs. Bryan Blackburn, of Newman, sang "I Love You Truly," before the ceremony. Lohegrin's wedding march announced the approach of the bride and groom, and Mendelssohn's was used as

Van Meter Gained 34 Lbs. After Having Flu

Declares Tanlac Restored Him 5 Years Ago and He Hasn't Been Sick Since. Put Whole System In Order.

"Tanalac put me back on the job five years ago and I haven't had to take a drop of medicine since that time," recently declared Charles G. Van Meter, valued employee of the Anchor Cotton Truck Mills, Rome, Ga., who resides at 33 E. Main St.

"Stomach trouble and after effects of the flu had me down to where I could hardly walk and couldn't hit a lick of work all one summer. No matter what I ate I would always bloat up with gas until I had to loosen my clothing, and often this gas would press around my heart so I had it almost cut off my breath. I lost my appetite entirely, had awful head-aches and my kidneys got all out of fix. In spite of all I did I kept getting worse and weaker.

"I decided to try Tanlac after I heard a friend of mine praising it. Well, sir, I noticed an old time hungry feeling after the first few doses, and the third bottle finished the job for it put me where I could eat anything and I didn't have a sign of old troubles. A few weeks later I found I had actually gained thirty-four pounds and tipped the scales at one hundred and forty-seven, more than I ever weighed in my life. Tanlac couldn't turn the trick for me and I can't praise it enough."
Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 27 million bottles sold.
Tanalac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.—(adv.)

ENOZ KILLS MOTHS
WILL NOT STAIN
Are moths eating your clothes? Millions of moth worms are born every day
Right now millions of moth eggs are hatching into hungry moth worms. Every egg can develop into a moth worm. And just one worm can destroy the winter clothes, furs and woollens you are packing away now.
A moth egg is too small to be seen. And they are always laid in hidden places. Your clothes may seem free from moths, but you can't tell how many eggs are hidden in them and moth balls (or other repellents) can't prevent the eggs from hatching.
Your sure and easy way is to spray thoroughly with Enoz. Enoz kills moths instantly. It also kills moth worms. And it destroys moth eggs before they hatch into hungry moth worms. Enoz is a fine spray which penetrates deep into garments and destroys every vestige of moth life.
It is the original, guaranteed moth killer. Has been used for 25 years in millions of homes. Its success has caused it to be crudely imitated. Be sure you get ENOZ.

the recessional. During the ceremony favorite airs of the bride were softly rendered.
Wedding Party.
Miss Mary Cobb, of Newman, was maid of honor. She wore a lovely costume of Nile green chiffon, trimmed with lace and seed pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas.
The matron of honor was Mrs. B. M. Ashill, of Atlanta, sister of the groom. She was gowned in yellow, fashioned with bouffant skirt, and trimmed with lace and dainty French flowers. Her bouquet was of laven-der sweet peas.
Mrs. Harry Calloway, of LaGrange, and Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, of Atlanta, were bridesmaids. Mrs. Calloway wore pink chiffon, made on simple lines, and carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas.
Mrs. Tuttle's gown was lavender-chiffon. The bodice was finished with low round neck line, and skirt made bouffant style. Her flowers were pink sweet peas.
Miss Lara Cook, of Hamilton, Ga., and Miss Alice Tankersley, of Montgomery, Ala., were the bridesmaids. Miss Cook wore a gown of lavender chiffon, trimmed with silver lace, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas.
Miss Tankersley wore a gown of pink chiffon, and her flowers were lavender sweet peas.

train which extended to the floor. The trains were lined with different colors, the pink dresses having blue linings of taffeta and the blue having pink linings.
The bridesmaids carried flat arm bouquets combining English daisies, Ophelia roses and Presden shaded sweet peas, showered with blue corn-flowers.
—Maid of Honor.
Preceding the bride came the maid of honor, Miss Emmie Nixon, whose lovely gown was of pink gros de bodrain fashioned also along bouffant lines. The skirt was made with an apron tunic, the sides being filled in with pink tulle falling in cascade of feet over the hoops and veiling in dainty effect small French flowers combined with silver ribbon bows. The giraffe of pink was especially becoming to her exquisite beauty. A lace frill softening the neck line. The court train of satin hung from the shoulder and was embroidered in pearls. The veil of tulle was caught to the hair with a coronet of duchesse lace, strands of pearls fastened with orange blossoms falling over the ears.
The bride carried a bouquet of orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

Beautiful Bride.
The lovely bride who entered with her father, Robert Baker Pegram III, never made a more charming appearance than in her bridal robes of ivory satin combined with rare duchesse and rose paint lace. The skirt was a draped model caught at the side with a large pearl cabochon from which hung long ropes of pearls extending to the hem line. The dropped shoulder style was especially becoming to her exquisite beauty. A lace frill softening the neck line. The court train of satin hung from the shoulder and was embroidered in pearls. The veil of tulle was caught to the hair with a coronet of duchesse lace, strands of pearls fastened with orange blossoms falling over the ears.
The bride carried a bouquet of orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

Elaborate Reception.
Following the ceremony the guests were entertained at an elaborate reception.
Receiving with Mrs. Pegram, the bride's mother, were Mrs. T. C. Davy, of Memphis; Mrs. M. H. Thornton, aunt of the groom; Mrs. J. O. Wynn, Mrs. Henry Davis, Mrs. Vaughn Nixon and Mrs. Frank Inman.
Mrs. Pegram was handsomely gowned in green crepe embroidered in crystals and trimmed in French roses. Her flowers were a corsage bouquet of pink roses.
Mrs. Davy wore black georgette beaded in rose.
Mrs. M. H. Thornton's costume was of black lace and flowers were orchids.
Mrs. J. O. Wynn was gowned in blue georgette beaded in crystal and finished with a blue moire sash.
Mrs. Henry Davis wore white crepe de chine combined with cloth of silver and beaded in pearls and crystals.
Mrs. Vaughn Nixon's handsome gown was of cloth of gold, embroidered in gold threads.
Mrs. Frank Inman was beautifully gowned in yellow shadow lace with a yellow ribbon sash.

Bride's Table.
Throughout the house quantities of snapdragons in pastel shades were used effectively in combination with garlands of smilax.
The bride's table was covered with an Italian lace cover and adorned with the center was a handsome five-branch candelabra of silver holding pink tapers unshaded and rising from a mound of summer flowers which included snapdragons, sweet peas and roses. Single candlesticks holding pink tapers were placed on the buffet and console tables.
Punch was served from two bowls, one placed in the dining room and the other in the sun parlor which was transformed into a pergola with Dorothy Perkins roses growing over it.
The bride's gifts to her maids were silver pens and pencils combined. The groom presented his groomsmen with silver car and cigarette cases.

Wedding Journey.
During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left for a wedding journey to New York, after which they will be at home with the bride's parents in Atlanta.
The bride's going away gown was a smart three-piece suit of grey Rosh-anara crepe. The skirt was plaited and was worn with a short coat embroidered in wine color. A smart close hat of grey suede, faced with blue and trimmed in grey suede flowers completed the costume.
Distinguished Families.
Miss Pegram is a member of the debutante circle of 1922-23, and she has been one of the most popular and attractive girls in society during the past season. She is personally very charming and her beauty is of the most pronounced ethereal type of loveliness. She was graduated from the National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., and afterward took a postgraduate course in the national capital. As a member of the Junior league she has served as chairman of the civics committee.
Miss Pegram is an only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pegram and she has one brother, Robert Baker Pegram, the fourth. She is a descendant of the Wrights, Lees and Pegrams, of Virginia, and her mother was the beautiful Miss Susan Wright, of Memphis, Tenn. Her maternal grandfather, William S. Wright, served in the United States navy, while her grandfather on her paternal side, Robert B. Pegram, was commodore in the confederate navy.
Mr. Harrison is a graduate of Oglethorpe university and served in the army during the world war. He is a member of the K. A. fraternity and is also a member of the Piedmont Driving club. His father was the late James Lawrence Harrison, a prominent citizen of Atlanta, while his mother was Miss Kathleen McCaslin, daughter of the late Major John McCaslin, of Atlanta, and granddaughter of Major Thomas McCaslin, of Baltimore. He is a representative of the Burdells and Harrisons of Virginia, whose names are identified with colonial days.

Mr. Harrison is the son of the late James Lawrence Harrison, pioneer citizen. He is the brother of Mrs. J. Clayton Burke, Mr. John M. Harrison, James L. Harrison, George L. Harrison and Frank W. Harrison. He has made his home with his father's sister, Mrs. H. H. Thornton.
Mr. Harrison is connected with the general offices of the Southern Enterprise and will supervise the booking of films for a large group of southern cities.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other Laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's in the confidence of those who use it

THERE are thousands of healthy, robust young men and women who have never in all their lives taken any other laxative for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Their parents were given it by their parents; the grandparents are using it today. It is the one laxative ideally suited to all the family, safe for the little ones, effective in grownups, so compounded that elderly people, who are constantly forced to take a laxative because the intestinal muscles are weakening, find increased dosage unnecessary. This wonderful constipation remedy has been used continuously for 30 years, and over 10 million bottles are now sold annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. The cost averages but a cent a dose. Every druggist sells it, and under a guarantee to do as claimed or your money will be refunded. Millions of carefully conducted homes are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Mr. J. B. Belk of Shaw, Miss. relies on it entirely to keep his children in health, and Mrs. Catherine Connolly of Jersey City, N. J., declares that not only herself but all her neighbors and friends use it and tell others about it. There is scarcely a day that someone in a family does not need it for constipation, flatulence, auto-intoxication, biliousness, intestinal poisoning, headaches, colic and cramps, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE
Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Mrs. Morris Calls Committee Meeting.

As a part of the program of the legislative committee of the Georgia Parent-Teachers association, Mrs. Charles Morris called together a group of Atlanta people to discuss the use of the newly-organized Georgia Kindergarten association. The State Parent-Teachers' association is considering the promotion of the permissive kindergarten bill and they are eagerly seeking the co-operation of this other state-wide group which was organized under their auspices at the time of the recent state meeting.

In order that associations may be familiar with this new organization, Mrs. Morris presents the following facts. The Georgia Kindergarten association has as its aim and purpose: First: The development of a professional spirit and technique within Georgia kindergartens which it is hoped may soon become an organic part of the entire public school system. Second: To promote suitable legislation that may make it possible to establish and maintain as many kindergartens as possible. The recently elected officers of this association are: Mrs. Ruby Lacey, Atlanta, Ga., president; Mrs. C. A. VerNooy, Athens, Ga., vice president; Miss Ruby Williamson, Columbus, Ga., secretary; Mrs. O. O. Fanning, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer. The executive committee is composed of the officers and the following elected people: Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. Clifford Walker, Monroe, Ga.; Mrs. P. T. Waring, Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. J. K. Otting, Mrs. L. D. Wise, Mrs. J. C. Malone, Miss Mary Dickinson and Miss Willette Allen, all of Atlanta. The membership of this group are of three types, active kindergartners, kindergarten graduates who have gone out of the teaching field and

The Code of the Mountains

BY CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

Next Week, "Desert Dust"
By Edwin L. Sablin

While Newt stared at her, she, too, looked up and saw him. For a moment she seemed startled at the black visaged apparition, but after a moment she coolly returned his glance, and disappeared into the house.

When the boy later went to the door, the western sun sent a long golden shaft into the primitive interior, down which the dust motes danced, although the corners remained somberly obscure. In the room were only the "women-folk." His mother sitting huddled over her pipe; the sister lying idly stretched on one of the beds with an ill-natured frown in her eyes and the strange girl, the strange girl sat, not near the cold hearth, where now there was no fire, but in the sun, and the sun lit upon and sparkled in her brown hair and awakened dull glints like the luster of polished mahogany. She was holding her lips rather tightly drawn as in self-repression, and there was a mistiness about her eyes that hinted at unshed tears.

"I reckon," Newt's mother was saying in a spitefully low voice, as the boy's figure darkened the door, "ye think same ye went off to school and got ter consart with them fatted teachers, that yer better'n what we be."

The girl made no reply, but she bent over the sewing in her lap, and her fingers trembled. Mrs. Hawkins looked up and with a jerk of her head, announced for the benefit of her son: "This here air Clem's gal, in a minute, I married a widder." The last sentence was snapped out in a tone of deep complaining, from which one might infer that in the train of marrying a widder she had suffered many melancholy consequences.

At that the girl raised her face and into it swept a sudden flush of anger. She looked challengingly at Newt and her eyes told him that if she was silent under the shrewdly heaving of the woman, she was quite ready to give him battle. But the boy had no intention of insulting her. He did not know her, and she was finding herself in that most pathetic of all positions, the status of being just enough educated to be unplaced at home and too little educated to be placed elsewhere. She had been thrown from her father's second marriage, under the persecutions of a shrew, a jealous step-sister and a century-old imbecile. She looked at Newt and reflected that his arrival added a murderer to the group. "Clem's gal" was longing for that different and more wholesome life over there at the college. But Newt had seen the look in her eyes and recognized that she like herself was here among people who offered no friendship. It was a rude band of sympathy and though she was "Clem's gal," and in consequence, of the enemy, he rose to her defense.

"I reckon," he remarked sullenly, "she ain't no more tee-totally tickled about yore a-marryin' of a widder than what you be."

The girl's eyes were lifted with an amazed expression from the calico dress upon which she was working, and her face swiftly softened. But Newt, a stranger to tear emotions, bent on presenting to every man and woman a face of defiance, gave no further sign of sympathy.

He went to the bed which had been assigned to him, and threw himself on his back, from which position he lay scowling up at the smoked rafters and resting.

Presently, his mother began again her querulous bickering. The conversation was one-sided and the boy lying silent in the dark corner noted that Minerva merely bent her head as one may bend it against the buffeting of gusty wind or rain. But he was himself less long suffering, and so he raised his voice with the dictatorial authority of a man rebuking a quarrelsome harem.

"Mummy," he ordered curtly, "I'm plumb sick an' tired o' heerin' all this yore blamed fursin' an' I want ye ter shet up. If Clem's gal is a willin' ter endure all that jawin', hain't."

For an hour there was no sound in the cabin except the low, monotonous voice of Newt's sister, crooning an ancient "ballad" that once was sung in Scotland before the Pilgrims landed in the western world.

About sunset that afternoon, Newt came upon the Rawlins girl milking near the barn. When she raised her head from the flank of the cow and saw him standing a short distance away, a sudden stream of color came flooding to her cheeks and temples. He had not yet heard her speak a word, but now after stammering a moment, she said:

"Hit was mighty good of ye, Newt, ter take up fer me. I'm much obliged."

The acknowledgment was somewhat difficult to make. This black sheep of her acquired family stood for all the things that the knightly Henry Falkins had deplored in speaking of the lawless spirit of the mountains. He was the sullen impersonation of the murder-spirit which shoots from ambush. He had come from prison and it was merry, not justice, that had opened the iron gates to set him free. She did not know that the testimony of Falkins had put him there, or that Newt's set purpose was revenge, but she had shamed her heart to despise him, and he had in a rough way stood forth as her champion. Perhaps, after all, he, too, had been a victim of conditions bigger and blacker than his own nature.

"Huh!" he growled. "Hit warn't nothin'. I jest natchally hates ter hear so much damn naggin'. Why don't ye lay back at 'em? Air ye skeered?"

The girl shook her head. "Ain't here much," she said, "an' I reckon thar's enough 'nough' in this house without me joinin' in."

JUST NUTS

THE GUMPS—THE CANDY KID

he paused before Black Pete Spooner, and began steadily:

"I don't know why you have come to me." The old gentleman's voice was self-contained, though his eyes bored accusingly into those of his visitor.

"I certainly shall express no criticism until you have said in full whatever you came here to say. You must know that I have always held aloof from feud-bickering. You must know that I have always counseled impartially and truly such men as have come to me from both factions. But above all you must know that, if there is bloodshed in Jackson on Saturday, no other thing will be as directly responsible for it as your reappearance in the county. Your presence and Falkin's death will be the twin causes. If you seek to avoid a holocaust, you are pursuing a strange course."

While Falkins talked, the Deacon listened attentively, acknowledging the force of each remark with a grave nod of his head. At the end of the speech, he sat a while with his brows judiciously drawn, then answered:

"There's a heap of truth and good sense in all that. I don't expect you to take my word on any matter, but I'm here to propose doin' things, not just sayin' things. I think there is one way to keep these boys from mischief, if you two men and me can act together." He paused after that a moment, then his voice came deeply resonant and full of warning. "And I tell you that whether I'm at the North Pole or right here, unless we three do get together, there's goin' to be hell in Jackson next Saturday."

He held them both with so steady and quiescent a gaze that for a moment both of the advocates of peace and law wondered if they were not actually talking with a convert; wondered half-convinced, despite all they knew of his history. Henry Falkins filled his pipe in silence, and then, as the three settled themselves in their chair, Black Pete began again:

"You men both know what a bad name I had when I left these mountains. I was guilty of several crimes to start with, and my reputation did the rest. Whatever meanness broke loose got laid to my door. I'm not complainin'. Enough of them accusations were true to give fellows license to suspect me in the balance. Then I went away."

"With the understanding that you were to stay away," interrupted Alister Falkins.

The Deacon nodded his head.

"I'm comin' to that," he answered with tranquility. "Anyhow I went away, and I've come back with just one hatred left."

"What is that?" demanded Henry Falkins. This man with one hatred was more to be feared than another with many.

"Hatreds of lawlessness and the sort of meanness that assassinate and quarrels," was the quiet and surprising response.

There was no offer to argue or deny, and after a moment he went on:

"That sounds a little funny from my lips, I reckon, but all I ask is a chance to prove it."

"And simply going away wrought this conversation?" It was the elder man who put the question, and his voice was frank in its scepticism.

The Deacon shook his head.

Continued Tomorrow.

THE HEAD BOOK-KEEPER SPRINGS THE VERY LATEST JOKE

THE SECRETARY OF THE FIRM RELATES A SIDE-SPLITTING TALE

AND THEN THE BOSS TELLS AN OLD ONE

HONEST CHIEF I NEVER HEARD SUCH A FUNNY STORY IN ALL MY BORN-DAYS! HOO-HOO-HOO-HOO-HOO!

PRETENDING HE NEVER HEARD IT BEFORE

PERIGEE

NO DOUBT HE SNORES!

MY ROOM MATE SNORES SO LOUD I CAN NEVER GET TO SLEEP—

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

I'D LAY A CHIFFONIER OVER HIS MOUTH—

DO YOU KNOW WHAT I DO?

NO! WOT?

I PULL ALL THE COVERS OFF HIM AND HIDE 'EM—

HOW SILLY.

SILLY ME EYE! WHILE HE'S HUNTING THEM I GET TO SLEEP—

Live Stock.

Chicago, June 6.—Cattle: Receipts, 12,500; 100 head averaged 92.74; High, 1923, 105.38; low 92.74.

20 railroads averaged 82.71; net gain 30. High, 1923, 90.63; low 80.13.

New York, June 6.—Prices displayed a reactionary tone during the early part of today's stock market in which there was active liquidation of some of the railroad and oil shares, but the market rallied and moved above yesterday's closing figures later in response to the brisk demand for some of the equipments and low prices of many of the stocks. The day was a restricted basis with public participation at a minimum.

New low records for the year were established during the session by General Asphalt, Central Leather, common and preferred, American Hide and Leather, preferred, Pure Oil,

New York, June 6.—After selling off on a belief that the crop was making progress, the cotton market rallied on covering by near month shorts and rumors that supplies might be shipped to Europe out of the comparatively small local stock. The feature was the strength of June, an inactive month, which sold at 28.50 in the late trading or 145 points above the closing price of 27.05 the previous day. There was only this one position in that position, and trading during the greater part of the day was quiet but October rallied from 23.45 to 24.40 and closed at 24.28. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 120 points on June and of 34 to 40 points on other positions.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 11 points under overnight selling orders but quickly rallied on the relatively firm ruling of Liverpool and reported a continued good spot demand in the English market. Active months sold about 5 to 10 points net higher on this huge but offerings increasing during the middle of the morning owing to the more favorable news from the south and rather a bearish interpretation of the weekly weather report. July eased off to 26.47 and December to 23.35, making net declines of about 20 to 28 points under a renewal of watering liquidation, local and southern selling. This was probably promoted by reports that southern mill curtailment might become more general if there was not an early improvement in the demand for cotton goods, and it looked as if the covering of the previous day had left the market in an easier technical position. The decline brought in a better demand, however, and the market rallied sharply during the afternoon when buying was encouraged by reports of a better tone in the stock market and the rumors that cotton was likely to be shipped out of here to European spinners before the end of the summer. A more hopeful view as to prospects for a settlement of reparations was held in the market on the advance to 27.25 for July and 23.39 for October. Private cables reported continental buying in Liverpool. Port receipts, 2,113; U. S. Port stocks, 202,945. Exports, 8,847 making 1,474,444 so far this season.

DECIDED ADVANCE AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, June 6.—While the cotton market was unsettled in the early trading today and at one stage stood 17 to 21 points under the close of yesterday, the tone was very steady after the middle of the morning and prices were advanced in a decided manner. Highest levels were reached in the late trading when the active positions were 45 to 50 points higher than the final quotations of yesterday. July rose to 27.48 after selling as low as 26.72; October rose to 23.50 after selling as low as 23.10. The close was 49 to 55 points net higher on the day with July at a range of 23.74 to 23.77.

BETTER FUTURE PRICES THAN DUE AND SPOT SALES OF 10,000 BALES IN THE LIVERPOOL MARKET CAUSED A RISE OF 7 TO 14 POINTS AROUND THE OPENING BUT REALIZING BY LONGS PAID DOWN THESE GAINS AND ENOUGH SELLING ORDER FOLLOWING THE READING OF THE WEEKLY CROP REPORTS, WHICH WERE CONSIDERED MORE FAVORABLE THAN UNFAVORABLE, TO PUT PRICES TO THEIR LOWEST FOR THE DAY.

TEXAS MARKETS COMMENTED ON A MUCH BETTER DEMAND FOR SPOTS AND THERE WERE RUMORS THAT CENTRAL EUROPE WAS QUICKLY BUYING SPOTS IN A LARGE WAY ON THIS SIDE AND THAT SOME OF THE NEW YORK STOCKS MIGHT BE SHIPPED IN THAT DIRECTION. THIS CAUSED NERVOUSNESS AMONG JULY SHORTS AND DURING THE REMAINDER OF THE SESSION THE TENDENCY WAS UNFAVORABLE. LATE IN THE DAY BROKERS HAD RECEIVED TELEGRAMS FROM CORPUS, CHRISTI, TEXAS, STATING THAT HARLINGEN WOULD PROBABLY BE THE FIRST TWO BALES OF THE TEXAS CROP TODAY OR TOMORROW. THIS NEWS WAS RECEIVED WITH INTEREST BUT HAD NO ADVERSE EFFECT ON VALUES.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS.

New Orleans, June 6.—Spot cotton steady 27 points higher. Sales net 588; good middling 28.15; middling 28.25; good middling 28.35; receipts 601. Sales to arrive 308; stock 91,881.

MISS LILU SHAW, RECENTLY INSTALLED AS MAYOR OF CRANFORD, WIS., IS THE FIRST WOMAN IN THAT STATE TO HOLD SUCH A POSITION.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON ACTIVE BUYING

Chicago, Ill., June 6.—Active buying here against selling at Winnipeg developed in the wheat market today and prices took an upward swing. The close was firm 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents net higher, with July 110 1/2 to 110 5/8 and September 109 7/8 to 110 1/4. Prices advanced unchanged to 3 1/2 cent up, and on the 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cent gain. In provisions the outcome was 2 cents to 10 cents advance.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON ACTIVE BUYING

What has made most of their success during the last half of the day. Higher quotations at Liverpool led to something of an upturn in values at the start here, but a decline soon ensued owing more or less to reports of favorable domestic crop conditions and to likelihood that Canadian wheat might have precedence in European favor for some time to come. Strength in the price of the July delivery at Winnipeg, however, led to closing out of spreads between Winnipeg and Chicago. Consequent bulges in quotations here were aided by optimistic news in some quarters, which was expressed as the outlook for a reparations settlement with Germany.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON ACTIVE BUYING

An unfavorable crop advice from Great Britain and France together with reports of damage by excessive rains in Kansas tended further to lift wheat prices as the day drew to an end. Besides, it was announced that the world's available supply of wheat had decreased 6,241,000 bushels for the week as compared with a decrease of only 721,000 bushels a year ago. No setback of any consequence, however, in view of the fact that with 120,000 bushels export business, and here the market closed at the day's top level.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON ACTIVE BUYING

Corn and oats sympathized with the wheat advance, despite heavy profit-taking sales of corn. Wet weather delay to corn planting had some bullish influence.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON ACTIVE BUYING

In provisions, the strength of grain more than offset weakness of the hog market.
